All aboard: Metra gears up for North Central

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

Metra spokesman Chris Knapton had to borrow a metaphor from another mode of transportation to describe the long-awaited opening of the North Central Service line from Antioch to Chicago's Union Station.

"We're flying by the seat of our pants," he said. "Nobody's started a new line here in 70 years. We're being super cautious."

The start-up was scheduled for August 19, he said, because of the low ridership typically found during that time of year. If necessary, adjustments can be made to the timetable and the length of the trains.

"A lot of people already commute on other lines," he said. "They can get the train closer to home, but they may still have a parking pass at another station."

The current schedule calls for three morning trains to leave Antioch about every half hour beginning at 5:27 a.m., arriving in Chicago about an hour and a half later. The routine will be reversed in the afternoon, with the last train arriving at the end of the line around 7 p.m. One round trip is scheduled midday, and Pace buses will allow commuters to travel to suburban stations in off-peak times. A complete rider's guide is available by calling 1-800-41-METRA.

'We're flying by the seat of our pants. Nobody's started a new line here in 70 years. We're being super cautious.'

— Chris Knapton,
Metra spokesman

Intermediate stops are scheduled at the Lake County communities of Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills, Prairie View and Buffalo Grove. The train will go on to Wheeling and Prospect Heights and include a transfer stop for O'Hare before continuing on to River Grove and the downtown destination.

The North Central Service will travel along the Wisconsin Central freight line, which Metra is leasing for $2.5 million a year, renewable in five years. The agreement addresses coordination of the commuter trains with the freight traffic.

"The contract gives us a floating one-hour window each morning and night," Knapton explained. "For that one hour no freight trains will be in the railroad."

The last morning commuter train is expected to be followed shortly by at least one freight waiting at the state line, he said, so the window will follow the train down the line. The process will be repeated for the evening schedule, with freight trains held until the last commuter has left Union Station. The off-peak round trip will be coordinated by a dispatcher with remote See METRA page B20

Clinton, Dole or Edgar may stop in Antioch

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

During the ceremonial grand opening of the new Metra commuter train line, Antioch could be playing host to some mighty big shots.

President Bill Clinton has been invited, Republican presidential candidate Robert Dole has been rumored to be coming, and Governor Jim Edgar has expressed an interest. Frederico Pena, the federal Secretary of Transportation, has also been mentioned.

"We don't know who is coming," said Village Administrator Tim Wells. "It's been as high as Bill Clinton to the governor. We don't know for sure who is coming."

Why all the hoopla?—Because the North Central Service line is the first commuter railroad to start up in 70 years. Commuter service in Antioch ended in the 1950s.

Local big shots like State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) are likely to say a few words before the new Metra commuter line from Antioch to downtown Chicago officially begins service.

Metra bestowed the honor upon Antioch to host the grand opening Aug. 18.

Mayor Marilyn Shinefugl will introduce all dignitaries at 1 p.m. At See STOP page A10

Queen claims town's first Little Miss Lake County

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Little Miss Antioch Mary Kay Cashmore will be wearing two crowns this year.

She became the first ever Little Miss Antioch to be named "Little Miss Lake County" during the Lake County Fair last week.

The 7-year-old queen who attends Antioch Lower Grade will now represent both Antioch and Lake County.

"This is exciting for Antioch," said Cheryl McCameron, who orchestrates the Antioch pageants prior to the county pageant.

"This is the first time that anybody can remember that someone from Antioch won at the county level," McCameron said. "It means recognition for our town at the county level."

And she gives Cashmore all the credit for representing Antioch and representing Antioch well.

Chicken picnic, auction set for Sunday

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Chicken will top the menu and plenty of quality merchandise is ready for the bidding at the annual Lions Club Chicken BBQ Picnic and Antioch Rescue Squad Auction.

Williams Park will be a flurry of activity Aug. 4. There will be free swimming at the pool and children's games are planned for the all-day picnic and auction.

"It's a mid-summer festival which has become our main fund-raiser," noted Chuck Cermak, who is in charge of publicity for the Lions Club.

Complete chicken dinners will be going for $6 this year. Dinner includes a half chicken, coleslaw, buttered bread and chips.

Other extras like hot dogs, brats, corn on the cob and chips can also be purchased. There will be a full-service bar for cocktails and a beer wagon.

"It helps us promote the community activities that we raise money for," said Cermak, whose den of 125 Lions are ready to serve more than 2,000 chicken dinners.

While the Lions Club is serving chicken dinners, the Antioch Rescue Squad will hold its annual auction from noon to 5 p.m.

Among the top items of the 200 pieces to be auctioned include a new riding lawn mower, art work and prints, fine furniture, custom mail boxes, porch swings as well as whole steer, pigs and lambs.

"Everything is good," said Rescue Squad Chief Tim Osmond. "There's something for everybody. Somebody will like something."

Everything raised during the auction helps purchase new equipment for the Antioch Rescue Squad and pay for training for the all-volunteer force.

"This is our major fund-raiser of the year," Osmond noted.

During the auction, the Antioch Junior Woman's Club will be running the "Treasure Booth" which offers merchandise for sale.

"You can go in there and buy the merchandise or make an offer," Osmond said of the treasure booth.

Since 1948, the Lions Club has given a portion of its proceeds from the picnic to the Antioch Rescue Squad.

"There's a very close relationship between the Lions Club and the Rescue Squad," Osmond said. "They probably have given us more money than anybody and we really appreciate them."

Nevertheless, the Lions Club Chicken Picnic and Antioch Rescue Squad Auction has become one of the final community gatherings of the summer.

Dist. 34 seeks new zoning to satisfy village wishes

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

As a courtesy move, Antioch Consolidated School District 34 will request for a zoning change on the property it owns at the corner of North Avenue and Tiffany Road.

The public hearing is being held by the village's Planning and Zoning Board on Aug. 8 at 8 p.m.

Dist. 34 bought approximately 23 acres on the corner with the eye of building additional facilities in the future. Portions of the property are zoned residential and business.

The zoning request is for the entire property to be zoned residential, which would affect about 10 acres now zoned business.

Building Commissioner Robert Silhan said the village asked for the zoning change with the fear that the property may be sold in the future and a strip mall may be located in the middle of a residential area.

"The school district is asking for the change as a courtesy to the village," Silhan noted. "The village had concerns about the property if the school board sold the property in the future."

Silhan said he has taken prospective investors to the site, but none were interested in building a commercial entity on the parcel zoned for business.

"There is no market for a commercial use of that site," said Silhan, who has a full report on the site.

Judy Martini, a County Board member representing Antioch, questioned if the zoning change would hurt the prospects for a new school to meet rising enrollments in Dist. 34.

"My question is if the zoning change affects the ability to build a school," Martini said.

Silhan said the zoning change will not affect the ability to build a school.

He also said the change will round the zoning of the overall area.

"That corner is more marketable zoned as residential than it is having zoned for commercial," Silhan said.

The public is invited to the hearing on Thursday.

ACHS will host first conference preview

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

In an effort to promote high school sportsmanship and the North Suburban Conference, Antioch Community High School will play host to the first annual football preview.

According to ACHS Athletic Director James Kafer, the first-ever preview is designed to showcase the conference's upcoming football season among key representatives of the conference schools.

"The idea is to promote the conference, and it's an opportunity for coaches and the media to make their contacts," Kafer said.

The Aug. 17 event will run from 5 to about 8 p.m.

In many ways, the format is similar to the "Big 10" luncheon before the college football season gets in full gear.

In the NSC football preview, coaches and team captains from each school as well as representatives from each school's cheerleading team and Booster Club leaders from 5:15 to 6:05;

Kafer said the idea of a conference-wide football preview was not in reaction to recent talks about some schools joining other conferences. Mundelein, for example, considered teaming up with the Fox Valley Conference, but declined for fear of ending a long-standing rivalry with nearby Libertyville High School.

"It was a joint idea from the football coaches, ADs and principals to take a pro-active stand to enhance sportsmanship," Kafer said. "It is not a reaction about conference re-alignment."

Football will be the only sport featured during the preview. "We may expand this in the future," Kafer noted.

The full schedule on Aug. 17 includes:

- Welcome and purpose from 5 to 5:10 p.m.;
- Breakout sessions with ADs and players, ADs and coaches, cheerleaders, and Booster Club leaders from 5:15 to 6:05;
- Media presentation by coaches and captains from 6:10 to 7 p.m.;
- Open session with media and social with pizza and beverages beginning at 7 p.m.

Kafer said each school will host the football preview on an alphabetical rotating basis, but he said he was particularly proud ACHS will host the first preview.

"I do believe it's an opportunity for Antioch to showcase our facility and our school community," Kafer said. "It's also a real opportunity for our (conference) schools to interact and communicate with each other."

$14 million in appropriations OK'd for emergency spending

So the village could spend the necessary funds in case of an emergency, the village board approved the state-required appropriations ordinance.

The ordinance has specific line items to allow the Village of Antioch to spend up to $14.9 million over the next year.

"It's the legal document to spend money," explained Village Administrator Tim Wells.

The actual budget for the village is $4.5 million, and the village expects to receive approximately $4.5 and $5 million in revenue this year.

Wells said the appropriation ordinance will allow the village to spend money in emergency cases such as if the water tower collapsed.

At the same time, if the village receives some unusual income such as grants or bequests, the village would have line items to spend the money.

"Every year, our budget is $4 to $5 million, our revenue is about $4.5 million and our appropriation ordinance is between $13 and $15 million," Wells noted.

All villages are required to pass appropriation ordinances according to state statute.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Moms, sons to 'Splish, Splash' at pool bash

Mom, now it's your turn to spend quality time with your son as moms will have the chance to jump into the pool with their sons.

The Antioch Parks and Recreation Department will be holding its first annual "Mother Son Splish Splash Pool Bash."

"This is the first one. We have never organized a mother/son night," noted Rachel Beattie of the parks department.

The first "Splish Splash Pool Bash" will be held Sept. 6 from 6 to 8 p.m.

The idea for a mother/son night was spawned after the success of the Daddy Daughter Date Nite held at Antioch Community High School.

"Moms were kind of jealous of the success of the Father/Daughter dance," Beattie said. "They wanted to do something with their sons."

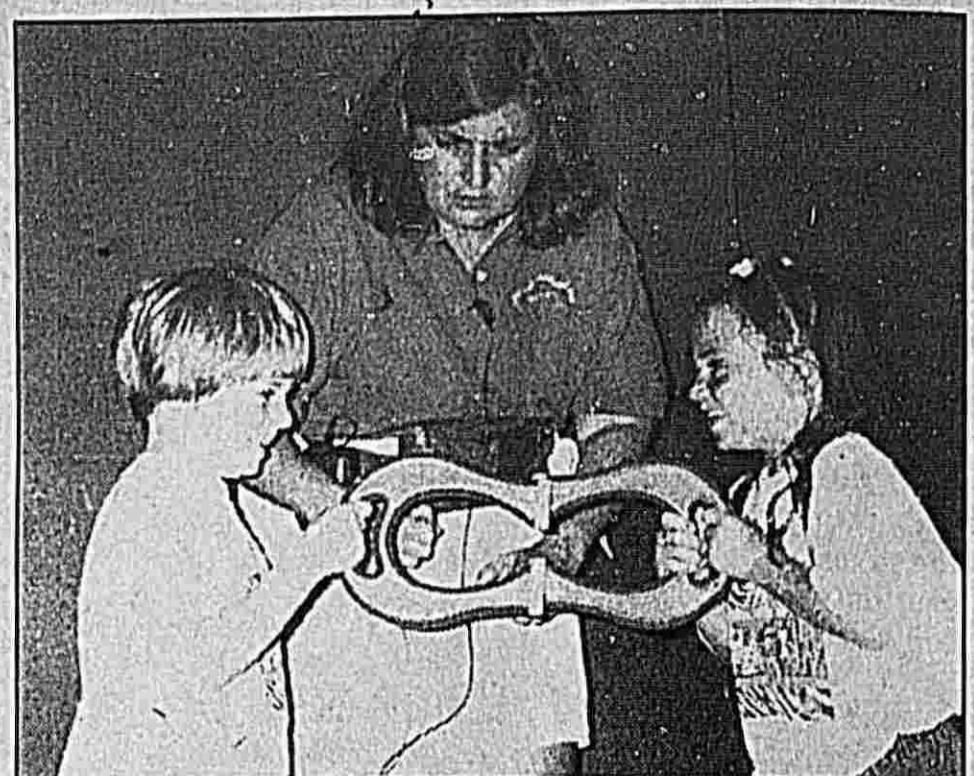

In addition to swimming, there will be food, games, face painting, clowns and a moon walk.

"There will be other things to do besides swimming," Beattie noted.

Instead of having pictures taken, a little personal touch will be added. Moms and sons will have the opportunity to have a caricature drawing done together.

The event is $15 per couple, and $5 for each additional child. Cost includes all expenses.

Registration will be held at the Parks and Recreation Office. For more information, call 395-2160.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Late-night music disrupts

Police were dispatched to Waterfalls Restaurant, July 27, at 3:23 a.m., after reports of loud music coming from the establishment. According to reports, police heard a very loud "base" coming from the business. "It was heard with the squad car running, and the police radios working," police reported. Police cited the duty manager Laura Egan, 26, of Lake Villa, for disorderly conduct. Egan told police several employees were playing the stereos high while cleaning up. Police said the music was causing a breach of peace. An Aug. 14 court date was set in Grayslake.

Man causes disturbances

Police responded to the area of the Limerick Lounge following a complaint of an unwanted subject. Police charged David Brown, 36, of Burlington, Wis., for battery. According to reports, Brown was causing a conflict to customers and employees at the lounge. He was denied further bar service and asked to leave. Several patrons attempted to remove Brown from the establishment. One individual received a bite wound and wished to press charges. Police found Brown in the washroom at D & G's Lounge.

Man returns, trespasses

On July 21, police responded to Waterfalls Restaurant and arrested Thomas Freundt, 28, of Fox Lake, for criminal trespassing. Employees began to close the premises and asked Freundt to leave. He was later found in the hallway near the washrooms. After he was charged, Brown told police he re-entered the premises because he needed time to sober up and to use the washroom. He will appear in Waukegan court Aug. 12.

Police nab possible prowler

On July 28, police were called to a residence on North Avenue due to a report of a possible prowler. Upon arrival, police found the suspect on the side of the house. Police charged Michael Fischer, 17, of Antioch, for criminal trespass to property and disorderly conduct. Police said Fischer was found to be confused, disoriented and soaking wet. Fischer admitted to police that he had been drinking and had smoke a large amount of marijuana. He will appear in court Aug. 19.

FBI probes bank robbery clues

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Federal Bureau of Investigation specialists and evidence technicians are now analyzing evidence from the robbery at the First National Bank of Antioch.

Antioch police detectives have been on the case since the robbery June 21 when a white male entered the bank, demanded money and fled.

"We have sent five or six items to the FBI which are being analyzed at the FBI crime lab," reported Deputy Chief Charles Watkins.

In order to preserve the integrity of the investigation, Watkins did not reveal the evidence being reviewed by FBI specialists in Washington D.C.

No one was injured during the robbery although the suspect implied he had a weapon.

An undetermined amount of money was taken from the bank. Since the bank is federally insured, the FBI automatically leads the investigation with local enforcement agencies.

"They're analyzing the items and we're expecting to hear something back within a week or two," Watkins said.

He noted that the FBI and its crime lab have been burdened with investigations involving TWA Flight 800 which exploded following takeoff in New York. All 230 people en route to Paris were killed.

The FBI also landed a suspect believed responsible for the bomb explosion during the 1996 Summer Games at a park in Atlanta. That investigation is also ongoing.

"The FBI is really busy as you might expect, but we're in constant communication with them. We talk to them almost on a daily basis," Watkins said.

A bank camera photographed the suspect as he was demanding money from a teller.

Photographs of the suspect are posted at various businesses and locations throughout the Antioch area.

The FBI and the Antioch Police Department are searching for a white male, age 25 to 35, about 6-foot tall and 180 pounds, with dark brown wavy hair, bushy mustache and a tan complexion.

An FBI spokesperson said the FBI catches three out of four bank robbers within 18 months of the robbery.

Anyone with further information about the bank robbery at First National Bank should call Antioch detectives at 395-8585 or the FBI at (312) 431-1333.

Police believe fireworks caused explosions

Antioch police believe reports of possible gunfire were actually fireworks explosions.

On July 25 around 4 a.m., police were dispatched to the Valley View Court area behind the Jewel after several explosions were sounded.

Police followed up and investigated the area, but could not locate any possible suspects.

"We immediately sent two squads to the area, but we found nothing," noted Deputy Chief Watkins.

Between 15 to 20 explosions were heard. Watkins said police dismissed the possibility of gunfire.

"We're assuming it was someone setting off some type of fireworks, like M-80s," Watkins said.

He said the frequency of the explosions seemed to indicate that the wicks of an explosive material were tied together and ignited together to set off the rapid explosions.

"We had nothing to lead us to believe it was gunfire," Watkins said.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Now who do you suppose pays for all this?

Thanks to Disney, once again parents find themselves being besieged by the pleas of their young children for the latest paraphernalia from the recently released "Hunchback of Notre Dame" summer blockbuster movie. It's bad enough that this targeted audience wants their entire wardrobe to consist of the trendy shirts, shorts, pants, sweatshirts, dresses, jogging suit, sneakers, socks, hair pretties and necessary fashion accessories such as earrings, watches, and necklaces but Disney has also made it possible to fill a child's every waking moment with their latest marketing treasures. Kids sit down each morning with their favorite breakfast cereal and juice being held in a "Hunchback" bowl and cup.

They venture into the bathroom to brush their teeth with a "Hunchback" toothbrush and wash their shining little faces with a "Hunchback" washcloth and towel. They wouldn't dream of putting on their newly acquired "Hunchback" attire without first slipping into their "Hunchback" undergarments.

The morning is spent on the computer playing games utilizing the latest "Hunchback" software and for lunch we are forced to visit our local fast food eating establishment to shell out $2.89 for a meal that goes uneaten but is a required purchase in order to pay another $1.99 for the to-die-for "Hunchback" puppet (which as we all know eventually ends up in the bottom of the toy box with all those other we-gotta-have toys).

The afternoon is spent listening to the CD of the movie sound track while coloring in the freshly printed "Hunchback" Color and Activity book and re-enacting the entire movie plot with the newly purchased Esmeralda, Phoebus, Gypsy Horse, Dancing Djali and Quasimoda dolls and action figures.

As snack time approaches,

Tom Waddle to speak at the CLC Sports Banquet

Tom Waddle, a former member of the Chicago Bears, will be the guest speaker at the College of Lake County's eighth Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports Banquet on Oct. 10 at the Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth.

Proceeds from this benefit event will help to raise funds for a $1,000 scholarship established at CLC in memory of Keith Ryan, a well-known Lake County sportscaster who died of cancer in 1989.

The banquet will begin with a cash bar at 6 p.m., followed by a dinner at 7 p.m.

The evening will feature a keynote address by Tom Waddle; presentation of the 1996 Keith Ryan scholarship award; induction of local sports celebrities into the Waukegan Sports Hall of Fame, sponsored by the Waukegan Lions Club; and a 50/50 raffle drawing.

The banquet is open to the general public.

Donation is $30. For tickets and information, call the CLC Foundation office at 223-6601, ext. 2400.

naturally the only accepted goody to be consumed by this brain washed group is the "Hunchback" ice cream cups with Sweetarts candy topping. In the afternoon mail a "Hunchback" birthday invitation arrives inviting your young one to a school chums "Hunchback" birthday party. You know the hosting mom will have no choice but to have the complete "Hunchback" birthday collection of plates, napkins, tablecloths, cups, hats, horns, party favors, balloons, cake and goodie bags. So you find yourself journeying to Toys R Us in search for the latest "Hunchback" gift set by Mattel. Of course to compliment the perfect present you must keep with the theme of the party and pick up Hallmarks "Hunchback" birthday card and gift wrap ensemble.

The car ride home subjects you to the little cherubs singing with the "Hunchback" Sing-Along tape and song book, provided by yet another marketing genius.

The evening meal is eaten off a "Hunchback" dinner plate sitting on a "Hunchback" placement and accompanied by a "Hunchback" tumbler and eating utensils.

The nightly bath can only be completed after the last "Hunchback" bubble bath bubble has popped and then the little darlings don their "Hunchback" sleepwear, crawl between their "Hunchback" sheets, cover up with their "Hunchback" comforter and lay their tired little heads on their "Hunchback" pillows. Before drifting off to slumber land, a lengthy goodnight is wished to the "Hunchback" figurines sitting on the dresser beneath the newly hung "Hunchback" posters. The new "Hunchback" wallpaper, drapes and valances are on back order from the Penneys catalog.

You can bet that before long the "Hunchback" school supplies will begin appearing on the shelves of Walmart, Target, Venture and K-Mart and moms will be forced to fill those "Hunchback" backpacks with "Hunchback" book bags, folders, binders, pens, pencils, markers, glue sticks, scissors, school supply boxes and lunch boxes. What school wardrobe is complete without the much needed, always practical "Hunchback" rain slicker and umbrella?

Now that we have succumbed to every "Hunchback" materialistic whim know to crafty marketing executive's, can somebody tell me what I am suppose to do with all the above mentioned items that we have stuffed in boxes containing the logos from "Barney", "Lion King", "Pocohontas", "101 Dalmations", "Aladdin", "Beauty and the Beast", "Snow White", "Cinderella", and "Aristocats"? And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

Benefit to remember Waszak and Cermak

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

In celebration of their happy lives together, a benefit is being held in memory of Paul Waszak and Chaneice Cermak.

Organizers seek stories, comments and photos of the two high school sweethearts. The benefit is planned at Waterfalls Banquet Room on Aug. 17 at 8 p.m. The $5 ticket donation to the benefit is open to everyone, of all ages, who knew Waszak and Cermak.

"The Antioch community is linking together in love and support in memory of Paul Waszak and Chaneice Cermak," said Marie Brausam, one of the organizers of the benefit.

Waszak and Cermak were tragically killed at the corner of Route 59 and Grass Lake Road. While waiting at the stop light on a motorcycle, a motorist struck the motorcycle from behind and sent the couple into the oncoming lane.

Both attended Antioch Community High School.

Not only is the benefit in memory of the couple, but it is a reminder about the deadly intersection.

"The Waszak family has to drive that corner everyday," Brausam noted. A cross still stands at the corner as a memorial.

"We want to invite Churchill and Geo-Karis," Brausam added. Both State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) and State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) have said they would use their influence to expedite the improvement process at the intersection which is part of a five-year state improvement plan.

The benefit will include a deejay, dancing, door prizes and raffles.

A keepsake scrapbook is also being crafted. "We're putting together a book of memories," Brausam said. Comments, stories and anecdotes about Waszak and Cermak are sought.

Items for the book of memories should be directed to Brausam or Kathy Werchek by Aug. 12.

Organizers are also open to raffle gift donations as well.

For more information, donations or scrapbook items, call Brausam at 395-1236 or Werchek at 838-0591.

"It's for financial and emotional support," Brausam said of the Aug. 17 benefit. "Everyone still wants to do something for them."

Jaycees selling tickets for old-fashioned circus

Antioch Jaycees will present an old-fashioned "Under the Big Top" one-ring animal circus at Oakland School Sept. 10.

Tickets are available now for the Kelly Miller Brothers Circus.

Sponsored by the Antioch Jaycees, show times are 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The circus is one of the oldest forms of entertainment in recorded history. Before the advent of television, the circus provided a unique form of entertainment that made its coming to town a holiday.

"Our business is built on tradition," said David Rawls, co-owner and manager of the circus.

The Kelly Miller Brothers Circus features a collection of more than a dozen exciting acts, including wild cats and their trainers, aerial and acrobatic performers, clowns, elephants, and an exotic petting zoo.

Founded in 1938 by the Miller family of Hugo, Okla., it is one of the few remaining tent circuses in America. The Kelly Miller Brothers Circus gives performances in 220 cities and towns.

The circus is one of the many fund-raisers the Jaycees has each year in order to raise money for various charitable causes.

The public is also invited to a sneak preview on the circus morning. At 7:30 a.m., the animals are expected to be unloaded and the

Couple offers purrsonalized petsitting

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Annie Morris has taken her love for animals a step further.

Pet owners will be able to rest peacefully while on vacation knowing that Morris has fed, taken outside, groomed, and properly cared for their domestic animals.

Morris and her husband, Bill, incorporated "Purrfect Pet Care," a "purrsonalized" petsitting service.

Quite literally, they make pet house calls as they visit people's homes to care for the pets.

"I really do it for the love of animals," said Morris as she introduced her own pet cats, dogs, turtles and fish. She even had a pet skunk at one time, and her 12-year-old daughter Gwendolyn is even known to care for a pet toad or two.

After several years of petsitting for friends who went on vacation, Morris decided to earn a few bucks and started up her own petsitting service.

'Pets do better in their own environment.'

—Annie Morris

"This sort of helps fund my hobby," which is, of course, caring for animals, Morris said.

Morris has worked and continues to work for pet shops and veterinarians. Her hands-on pet experience has given her a vast background of knowledge in pet health, maintenance and training.

She said personalized petsitting is healthier for pets than taking them to boarding kennels or pet hotels where pets can be exposed to diseases, fleas and other unfamiliar animals.

"Personalized petsitting is preferable to boarding because it's less stressful on the animal," said Morris, who is a member of Pet Sitters International. Purrfect Pet Care is also veterinarian recommended.

She added, "In their own home, they have their own food, they're own bed, they're own yard."

Her rates depend on the type of service the pet owner seeks. Morris will feed, walk, groom, bathe, sit and clean pets.

"I structure it how I would want my pets treated," Morris said. "I do whatever the owner wants."

She is also equipped to give them any necessary medicine, shots or pills. "I know what to do if an animal is expecting," Morris pointed out.

In the meantime, her husband Bill is an aquarium hobbyist who breeds a variety of tropical fish including Cichlids and hybrid live bearers. He will advise people on proper aquarium set-up and maintenance.

"He's the more aquatic expert, while I'm the furry expert," Morris mused.

Her lifelong attraction to animals dates to the many moves she experienced as a child. Morris said she went to 12 different schools as a child. Her pets were her best friends.

Annie and Bill Morris' petsitting business, Purrfect Pet Care, serves everything from cats and dogs to tropical fish. Annie has always been fond of pets and has her own menagerie.—Photo by Kevin Hanrahan

"It was hard to keep friends when you were always moving, so I had pets," Morris said. "The animals were constantly my friends."

And now she is always looking to make new pet friends through "Purrfect Pet Care, Inc., which serves the greater Chain of Lakes region. Her business number is 838-5683.

"Pets do better in their own environment," Morris said.

COURAGE winds down summer

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

A community based anti-gang group still is participating in a few events this summer before picking up full swing when students go back to school.

When August is complete, Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment (COURAGE) members will have went camping, marched in a parade and helped with a fund-raiser.

COURAGE members went on a trip to Devils Lake, Wis. July 27-28. The trip was strictly one for fun with a chance to swim, water-ski and climb rocks.

Group members will march in the Lindenfest Parade on Aug. 10 at 10 a.m. in Lindenhurst. Once again, they will design their own float.

The teen group will decide how the float will look, according to Linda Bergin, vice-president.

COURAGE takes a zero tolerance stance toward gangs. The organization attempts to curb gangs through education, intervention and alternative activities. A teen group usually meets from 6:30-8 p.m. on Thursday evenings.

However, with the summer activities and vacations, the teen group won't meet until school is back in session. The teen group has members from grades 6-12. The general session are once every two months.

COURAGE members will assist Central Baptist Children's Home in Lake Villa for the Second Annual "Blast From the Past" classic car show and family festival Aug. 24 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Members will also be selling lemonade to raise money.

"We are planning more activities such as Rollerblading events and teen lock-ins," Bergin said.

The organization encourages and welcomes prospective new members. For more information call Bergin at 356-6788.

ACHS graduate follows a dream to become a Luv-A-Bull

AMANDA MILLER

Staff Reporter

At age 21, Tami Weber of Lindenhurst teaches every Saturday at the Lively Arts Academy in Antioch. She teaches kids from 2 to 7 years old how to dance ballet, jazz, tap, and tumbling. And now, Weber has made the final cut and will perform with the 1996-97 Chicago Luv-A-Bulls.

Weber has an even more extensive history in dance and a long list of accomplishments. She has been dancing since she was 5 years old. Starting at Kim Kalla's Studio of Dance and working until she was 15 was just a part of the road to her goal. Weber was a cheerleader at Antioch Community High School for four years. She won several National Dance Championships during this time as well. Weber was a part of the dancing team the Chicago Honey Bears from 1992-94.

Now, Weber will be dancing for the Chicago Bulls. The auditions started with 151 of Chicago's best dancers. The first cut was made after a show of freestyle dancing and how well the girls spoke and what they looked like. The second cut was a little harder to make.

"The competition was pretty grueling," said Weber.

The second cut consisted of several dance combinations that had to be performed. The current Luv-A-Bulls members who wanted to be on the team again were brought in to try out with the new hopefuls. A Luv-A-Bull must try out every year to continue to be on the team. The first dance combination was more of a Hip Hop dance. Weber had some trouble with it.

"I'm more of a technical dancer... we had to do this Hip Hop dance and it kind of threw me off... but the other combination was more technical, it was a lot easier for me," explained Weber.

Weber was then one of the 50 to 60 dancers picked to forward to the next round. They went to a mini-camp where they danced for an entire day.

On July 23, Tami Weber found out that she was one of the new 25 Luv-A-Bulls. Only 12 new tryouts were picked, while the rest were return dancers.

"I'm looking forward to the exposure and the glamour of it... being in front of 50,000 people," said Weber, "I love to dance and I don't mind the long practices because I enjoy it so much."

The new Luv-A-Bull will be practicing two times a week during the height of the season in downtown Chicago at the Chicago Hilton on Michigan Avenue.

Weber's parents are definitely supportive about the Luv-A-Bulls experience.

"They're really excited. They are a little nervous about me traveling to the city, but they are huge Bulls fans and are going to enjoy seeing me in the games," said Weber.

Weber had fairly extensive knee surgery some time ago and realizes that her dancing career might not last forever.

"I'd really like to open my own dance studio and teach children to dance," Weber said.

Chamber endorses green zone

The Solid Waste Agency of Lake County is looking for Antioch businesses to participate in the agency's "Green Zone Program."

A green zone is a designated area within a village's downtown business district in which several businesses are designated as drop-off sites for recyclable material.

Businesses will be encouraged to deposit recyclable waste into the designated bins. Grayslake and Libertyville have adopted the program spearheaded by SWALCO, which oversees waste disposal in Lake County and devises schemes to reduce waste.

As part of the Green Zone Program, SWALCO will supply the necessary recycling bins.

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry voted and endorsed the plan to designate a green zone from Main Street to Hillside Avenue and from Lake Street to Orchard Street.

"Four businesses will be designated as drop-off points," said Ed Cimaglio, president of the Antioch chamber of commerce.

Cimaglio said the chamber will accept applications from businesses interested in becoming a drop-off site. He said the chamber and SWALCO would like applications by Aug. 15. For more information, call 395-2233.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Work is progressing on the Antioch train station. Although, the station will not be finished in time for the grand opening ceremonies, Aug. 18, the structure should be up.—Photo by Linda Chapman

Stop

1:40, a train will depart and make 3-minute stops at each station along the line from Antioch to Chicago.

In the meantime, village officials are gearing up for a grand ceremony for whomever may show up. Wells did note that he has been asked to provide room for a possible helicopter landing.

"That day is going to be special. I'm going to make it look good," Wells promised. "We want it to look good when everybody is out here."

He said a large tent will be pitched in the vicinity of the train station on Depot Street and Antioch Lower Grade School. Orchard Street will be closed at Skidmore Drive, Depot St. will be closed at Pickard Dr. and just west of Anita Avenue.

Parking will be provided at Lower Grade School for people with special credentials to ride the train that day. A shuttle service from Antioch Community High School and Antioch Upper Grade may be provided.

Construction workers are also busy finishing up as much of the new train station as possible.

Wells said the frame of the building should be erect in time for the grand ceremony.

"The goal is to be up by the 18th, but the depot will not be functional," Wells noted.

The delay in completing the station may prove beneficial to taxpayers as the village expects to save between $125,000 and $175,000 on the project by taking longer to find a contractor to build the station at a cheaper price.

"We felt with that type of savings it would be well worth a slight delay," Wells said. The village originally budgeted $250,000 for the project.

Nevertheless, the grand opening in Antioch on Aug. 18 could be of presidential proportions.

Little Miss

"She's bubbly; she's cute. She's just a very charming little girl," McCameron said. "She winks at the judges. I'm sure they all melted."

Cashmore also has long curly, ash-bronze colored locks that women often long for. She has been compared to "Mary Kate" on the popular television show "Full House." Not to mention, Cashmore was honored in the "Best Hair" category at the county fair.

Cashmore said she was both nervous and scared when the judges announced the second runner-up and the first runner-up and her name wasn't called.

"I want to be a good representative of Antioch and Lake County," Cashmore said. She also said she likes Lake County because of all of its lakes and she likes Antioch because of all of its summertime festivals.

During the county pageant, she had to give a speech about her favorite toy, which is her puppy dog "Chester."

"I like to play with him during the day," Cashmore said. "I like giving him baths and taking him for walks."

But like all younger siblings, one of her favorite pastimes is "bugging" my sisters because they pick on me," she mused.

Yet, she still looks up to them, too, because she watches their cheerleading skits and hopes one day to be kicking and flipping in the air as a cheerleader.

In the meantime, she will be preparing for school in the fall and representing Antioch as the town's first Little Miss Lake County.

Barrington claims Legion title crown

The Hanson family certainly had its share of baseball success this weekend.

Jake, a Warren High freshman, pitched the Warren Colt league team to second-place in the Mickey Mantle state tournament. Some four hours to the north, Josh was the hero as the Gurnee American Legion team reached the title round against Barrington.

Josh's 3-run homer was the difference in an 8-5 win over Vernon. Barrington went on to win the district title with a 7-4 victory.

"I told Kevin Arft to do whatever it takes to get on base and he did," Gurnee coach Rick Hill said of the start of the ninth inning.

Scott Clark reached as Vernon's infielders could not get Arft at second base for a fielder's choice. Lee Deaton, sacrificed both to second and third.

That is when Josh Hanson stepped to the plate against Rob Mossessian. He planted the first pitch over the left-field fence at Barrington High for the thrilling 8-5 win. He was also the winning pitcher, going all but one-third inning.

"He was Mr. Clutch," Hill said of the older Hanson.

On the mound, he allowed one run in the third, fourth and sixth innings. A Jeff Skibitsky homer brought Vernon to a 5-3 deficit.

Gurnee struck early and often. A 5-run first featured singles by Josh Ward, Brandon Chesser, and doubles by Arft and Clark.

The win gave Gurnee another try at Barrington, which was seeking its eighth district crown. "We were shorthanded, but I thought if we could stay close to them, we could win," Hill said.

An RBI double by Ward scored Burens for Gurnee's first run.

Ward and Chesser singled and Arft had a pinch-hit RBI single for a seventh inning run.

Barrington scored five times in its seventh, though. Four hits and a two-base error by Gurnee proved deadly. Two runs scored as an errant throw went into the dugout.

Spangler still should be proud of run: friends

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Although she succumbed to an injured ankle at the outset of the Olympic women's marathon, Jenny Spangler has a lot to be proud of.

"It was not disappointing for us, but I am concerned she was disappointed in herself," Maureen Snider said.

Snider, of Grayslake, was one of an entourage of about 40 members of the Liberty Road and Track Club and friends who watched Spangler compete in the Centennial Olympic Games in the women's marathon. Spangler, a Gurnee resident, withdrew from the race after seven miles early Sunday morning.

"It had bothered her for several years. They had planned surgery for after the Olympics. She was in pain since the beginning of the race," Snider said.

Spangler, who shocked the Olympic trials with a win from the 61st seeded position, reported to Atlanta on July 14. She stayed at a home rented by fellow competitors in Decatur, Ga.

"Her preparation was exceptional. She went to Atlanta July 14 and it was perfect. It (the injury) hurt, but that is normal for her. She was running up to 120 miles a week," Snider said.

Snider said Spangler's road work included running the streets of Santa Monica, CA.

When race day came Sunday, the Spangler backers were ready to cheer at various points along the 26-mile course.

The course itself is basically uphill, which does not lend itself to speed.

There was plenty of support for Spangler's efforts back home at her employer, Trustmark, Inc. of Lake Forest.

"There were a lot of people who got up at 6 a.m. to watch her race. Several people went down and we kept track of her daily progress," George Schafer, director of public relations for Trustmark, said.

He said when Spangler will return to work is not known.

Libertyville High School based Liberty Road and Track Club members will have a reception for Spangler soon. She became somewhat of a folk hero among runners.

"There was a very nice Sports Illustrated trading card about her," Snider said.

The events leading up to the Olympics had an impact on many who followed Spangler. Her coach, Willy Rios, decided to coach full-time.

Snider and her group were not in Centennial Park when the bomb blast which injured 100 exploded early Saturday. "We had plans to go there. The next day, we were caught in the bomb scare in the Atlanta subway system. It was amazing the way they moved people and methodically cleared it out. There were no screams or a mad rush," she said.

The park was reopened on Tuesday.

Broncos gain regional spot, but fall in tourney opener

A rally in the later innings was not enough for the Lake Villa Broncos to gain winners bracket status at a regional tournament in Minnesota.

Memories of the first state tournament for Lake Villa baseball were still strong despite a 10-8 loss to the Minnesota Orioles Tuesday. The Broncos brought a 52-13 record to the Pee Wee Reese tournament outside of Minneapolis.

"It worked to our advantage. We saw some real good pitching at the state level," Ryan Pendergast, coach, said.

The Lake Villa squad downed Hoffman Estates 5-4 to win the state title in Rockford. A squeeze play executed by Scott Straub brought home Chris Kocinski with the winning run.

"We played real good defense and had solid pitching. This is the first time that Lake Villa has won the state tournament," coach Pendergast said.

The Broncos won all five games at state. Leading the way on the mound were Kevin Pendergast, Shawn Schuler, Tom Chapman and Kocinski, all right handers.

"I learned a knuckleball from my dad," Kevin Pendergast said. He will be a future Antioch High hurler.

In the regional tourney opener, a 10-1 deficit proved too much for Lake Villa to overcome. The team scored twice in the fifth and five more in the sixth to account for their runs.

Kocinski, Brad Hoogerhype and Kevin Pendergast all had key hits.

The team drops to the losers bracket and played Wednesday afternoon.

"With my son watching, I wanted to win it for him. Having him here is very special," Morgan said. He hugged his son Mike after finishing the round at the 18th hole with a par four.

Morgan shot a course record 63 on Friday and continued in the lead. He beat out John Bland's 207, Bob Murphy's 208 and David Graham and Raymond Floyd's 209.

The leaders, before and after Ameritech's event, had praise for the Long Grove course. This is the first of three years the course will host the Senior tour. "It is a fantastic course," Bland said.

"This is a tough course. You have to be patient," Morgan, who celebrated his 55th birthday Wednesday, said.

The course itself is basically uphill, which does not lend itself to speed.

There was plenty of support for Spangler's efforts back home at her employer, Trustmark, Inc. of Lake Forest.

"There were a lot of people who got up at 6 a.m. to watch her race. Several people went down and we kept track of her daily progress," George Schafer, director of public relations for Trustmark, said.

He said when Spangler will return to work is not known.

Libertyville High School based Liberty Road and Track Club members will have a reception for Spangler soon. She became somewhat of a folk hero among runners.

"There was a very nice Sports Illustrated trading card about her," Snider said.

The events leading up to the Olympics had an impact on many who followed Spangler. Her coach, Willy Rios, decided to coach full-time.

Snider and her group were not in Centennial Park when the bomb blast which injured 100 exploded early Saturday. "We had plans to go there. The next day, we were caught in the bomb scare in the Atlanta subway system. It was amazing the way they moved people and methodically cleared it out. There were no screams or a mad rush," she said.

The park was reopened on Tuesday.

A rally in the later innings was not enough for the Lake Villa Broncos to gain winners bracket status at a regional tournament in Minnesota.

Memories of the first state tournament for Lake Villa baseball were still strong despite a 10-8 loss to the Minnesota Orioles Tuesday. The Broncos brought a 52-13 record to the Pee Wee Reese tournament outside of Minneapolis.

"It worked to our advantage. We saw some real good pitching at the state level," Ryan Pendergast, coach, said.

The Lake Villa squad downed Hoffman Estates 5-4 to win the state title in Rockford. A squeeze play executed by Scott Straub brought home Chris Kocinski with the winning run.

"We played real good defense and had solid pitching. This is the first time that Lake Villa has won the state tournament," coach Pendergast said.

The Broncos won all five games at state. Leading the way on the mound were Kevin Pendergast, Shawn Schuler, Tom Chapman and Kocinski, all right handers.

"I learned a knuckleball from my dad," Kevin Pendergast said. He will be a future Antioch High hurler.

In the regional tourney opener, a 10-1 deficit proved too much for Lake Villa to overcome. The team scored twice in the fifth and five more in the sixth to account for their runs.

Kocinski, Brad Hoogerhype and Kevin Pendergast all had key hits.

The team drops to the losers bracket and played Wednesday afternoon.

With the expected charge from the opposition not materializing, the victory puff on the cigar was only a few pars away for Walter Morgan.

Morgan accomplished just that in winning the Senior PGA event at Kemper Lakes Golf course in Long Grove. He pocketed his largest tour check ever, $165,000 as he won the Ameritech Senior Open with a Sunday total of 72 and a four-day total of 205.

"I played steady today," Morgan said.

The golf clubs sat collecting dust for more than a decade after Morgan missed qualifying for the PGA tour by one shot in 1980. At age 54, he was one of the younger golfers at Kemper Lakes and won his third overall title.

"With my son watching, I wanted to win it for him. Having him here is very special," Morgan said. He hugged his son Mike after finishing the round at the 18th hole with a par four.

Morgan shot a course record 63 on Friday and continued in the lead. He beat out John Bland's 207, Bob Murphy's 208 and David Graham and Raymond Floyd's 209.

The leaders, before and after Ameritech's event, had praise for the Long Grove course. This is the first of three years the course will host the Senior tour. "It is a fantastic course," Bland said.

"This is a tough course. You have to be patient," Morgan, who celebrated his 55th birthday Wednesday, said.

Vikings offense clicks again in pre-season win

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Bugs and darkness took over in the fourth quarter, but the first three quarters of a scrimmage against the Windy City Rams belonged to the Lake County Vikings.

The Vikings semi-pro football team won their second scrimmage in as many outings, with a 32-14 win. The victory fuels rising hopes for the Midwest Football League defending champions.

The Vikings host Chicago Panthers in a pre-season clash at 6 p.m. Aug. 3 at Round Lake High.

"The running game helped open up the passing game today. You could tell they were getting no help from their safety," wide receiver Frank Ruiz said.

Ruiz got past his one-on-one defender and raced down the sideline for a TD catch from Addam Tesch. Tesch's passes blew past the Windy City defense to the tune of a 220-yard first half.

"So far the chemistry has been pretty good. The title last year gives us a lot of confidence," Ruiz said.

Ruiz is a 1986 graduate of Waukegan West. The MFL title was his first taste of football success. "I hope we can maintain that level. It felt good," he said.

Ruiz had 150 yards in receiving by halftime. His 48-yard TD pass from Tesch gave the Vikings a comfortable 18-0 lead.

The defense contributed as well. Jason Deford, a cornerback from Racine, snared an interception in the first half and ran one back for a third period score.

"This is my first year in semi-pro ball. I am learning as I go. I break where the ball goes," he said.

Luke Tesch, the younger brother of Addam, was the workhorse early. He had a 40-yard run to start the game on his first carry and had 54 yards by intermission.

The offensive line was consistent, including one player who changed plans to come back with the Vikings. "I was going to retire, but I got a call from a coach who said they needed linemen. I'm glad I came back," Willie Sykes, a 12-year veteran, said.

Rick Starosta, player-owner, started the scoring by breaking open and snaring a TD pass from QB Tesch of 21 yards. "It was wide open. Their safety was so deep," Starosta said.

He believes the league title has helped the Vikings ready for the season. "We have a cohesive team this year," he said.

"Everyone is practicing and working hard. Tesch had a good ballgame. He was accurate and the offensive line did a good job. We played a great defense, using a 3-4 well instead of a 4-3," Russ Kraly, Vikings head coach, said.

"I have been working quicker on my drop backs. Our timing when we have the first string receivers in there is perfect," QB Tesch said.

The pre-season game was played on the field adjacent to the main stadium at Round Lake High, meaning no field goals or extra points and lots of mosquitoes by 8:30 p.m.

An interception by Deford helped set up the second score, a short pass from Tesch to Ben Curran of five yards for a 12-0 second period lead.

Wilmot Speedway has two new winners

Troy Hepfner of Sussex scored his first ever 25-lap sprint car feature victory highlighting Miller Genuine Draft Night at the New Wilmot Speedway in Wilmot, Wis., on Saturday, July 27.

Defending champion Steve Reidel Jr. of Chicago won his first 15-lap J and L Oil Mini-Sprint Series main of the season. Kansaville's Larry Marshall chalked up his third 15-lap IMCA modified main win. Roy Morrison of Antioch won his second 12-lap mini-modified main.

"It's been a long time coming," said an emotional Hepfner in victory lane as he was joined by his father, Glen, and brother, Todd. "Todd (Daun) and I had a great battle. When I looked up and saw on the scoreboard that we had 16 laps in, I thought, boy, that went fast. But the final seven laps seemed to take forever."

Daun took the early sprint main lead with Hepfner following. Hepfner chose a high line for his Wegner Automotive/Glen Hepfner Inc. Stealth, pulling wing to wing with Daun for several circuits. On lap 10, Hepfner took command going into turn three, never relinquishing top spot.

The only caution on lap 16 for a spun car failed to keep Hepfner, who made the feature by finishing second in the "B" main last chance race, from becoming the seventh different sprint feature winner. Daun took runner-up, narrowly, beating out the feature winner's younger brother, Todd Hepfner. Dave Bliss was fourth. Dennis Spitz fifth.

"I didn't know if I'd ever get here again," said Reidel after becoming the fifth different mini-sprint winner. "We've been struggling with this car this year, but Jack Shear and Glen Isaacson did a great job setting it up. It was fun running with Scott (Sippel), too."

Sippel took the early lead with Reidel shooting to the front straight-away wall while Sippel took the inside line as the two split a lapped car on lap six.

Three yellows slowed the progress, with a red coming on lap 12 when Dan Uttech flipped in turn three. Uttech's mount burst into flames as it was righted, but was quickly extinguished by track officials and the Wilmot Fire Dept. which has a truck at all Wilmot races. Uttech was not injured.

Following the red, Reidel, who earlier broke his own 8-lap heat race record time, stayed in front to the finish. Ryan Mathews caught Sippel for second in the final lap. Tony Deieso was fourth and Bob Riechert fifth.

Golf cart, Jordan's play gets attention at Kemper

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

What do a sleek golf cart and Michael Jordan have in common?

Both were head turners as Kemper Lakes hosted the first of three years of the Ameritech Senior PGA open.

Jordan wowed the crowd with his straight drives and his near-par round. The Chicago Bulls legend shot a 75, three over for the day.

"He can hit the ball a mile," Don Russell of Rockford said.

Russell was watching Jordan tee-off from the 10th hole from the Long Grove course. Russell was watching from his wheelchair, a condition he does not allow to stop him from an occasional round of golf.

Meanwhile, a battery-powered golf cart was also attracting attention. Many of the 54-hole event golf fans wished to kick the tires or have a rest.

"It can last for 800 to 1,000 miles and needs to be recharged every three or four years," Peter J. Rood, vice president of sales and distribution, said.

The Trans 2 golf cart includes an all-weather design and area for storage in the rear.

Sales began last fall in Arizona and it averages $6,000. Customized options cost more, of course.

"It captures their attention. It can go 22 MPH and it is safer than your traditional golf cart," Rood said.

Kemper Lakes impressed visitors from near and far.

"It's beautiful," a fan from South Dakota declared.

That was before the Saturday two hour plus rain delay, though.

Local golfers found seniors to be pretty friendly when it came to signing autographs.

"They sign at the end of their round for sure," Scott Jacobsen, a student at Stevenson High School, said.

"You can learn a lot," Brian Schwartz, a junior at Stevenson, said.

Indeed, it was the Army veteran Morgan's chance to shine this Sunday afternoon. He survived a bogey at No. 17 after expanding his lead on the front nine.

Morgan, who resides in New Burn, North Carolina, kept his interest in golf alive and well while in the Army. The Vietnam war veteran won the 1975 and 1976 all-service title.

"I know I could qualify for the school if I could get some backing. The nice thing about the senior tour is if you play well, you get a check," he said.

"I was expecting a charge at me on the final day. I thought that round yesterday was as good as the first round. The pins were tough and the golf course was tough," Morgan said.

Bland looks back at a 10-foot putt missed at 16 as the nail in his championship hopes. "I'll be back next year. This is my first year on the senior tour," he said of the $96,800 effort.

Boland finished the back nine three shots better than Morgan's 37, but it was not enough.

"I tried to get to the middle of the green at 18 but pulled it," Bland said.

"I feel I made a poor choice at 15. I played it too conservatively," Graham said of the hole which he shot a bogey six.

For Graham, his time at the 6,820 yard course was somewhat therapeutic. He is contemplating a lawsuit against the Presidents Cup International team, which forced him to resign as captain.

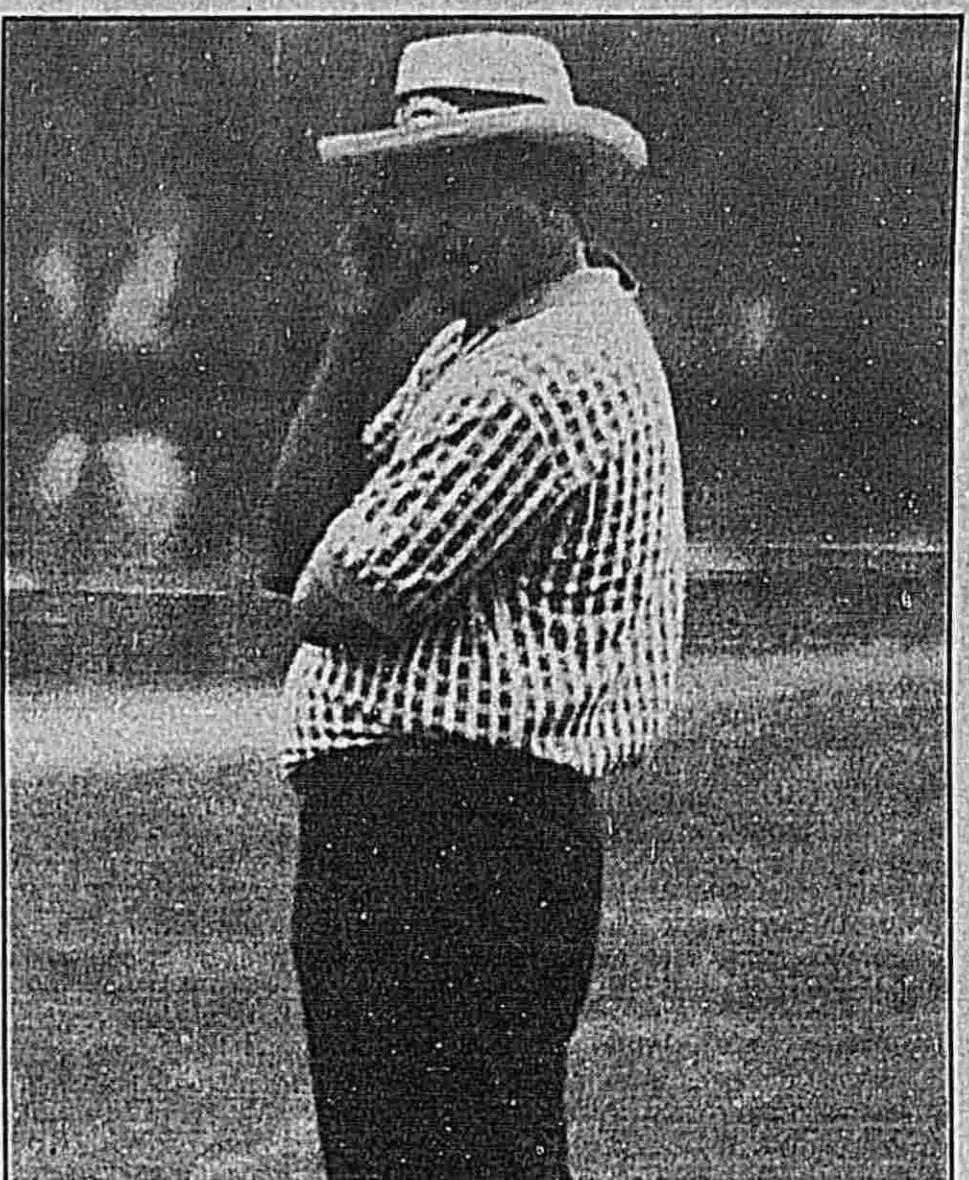

"I will be going to meet with my attorney and we may file a lawsuit for defamation of character. What they did was inexcusable and it casts a shadow over the whole tournament. I performed every duty that is required of a captain. Several players on the tour have encouraged me to file a suit."

"I was not going to play last week, but my wife encouraged me," Graham said.

The 50-year old finished 32d the week before in Minnesota before pocketing $59,400 Sunday.

Lawsuit or no, he left Kemper Lakes with a good feeling for the area and the gallery which supported him. "It was an amazing tournament. The senior tour is a great bunch of guys," he said.

As victor, Morgan becomes the third senior tour champion to win wire to wire and cleared the $1.3 million in career earnings.

Queen of Zion now reigns over Lake County as well

AMANDA MILLER

After three tries at Miss Zion, Jody Stewart finally realized her goal. Now, she is Lake County's reigning queen.

Stewart, 20, attends Trinity International College in Deerfield where she is an elementary education major. She is going to graduate in three and a half years, which was one of her goals. Stewart will begin student teaching at Kippling Elementary in Deerfield where she will teach second graders.

The Zion competition was important to Stewart. The first time she competed she won second runner up. The second time she competed she was awarded first runner up and finally on Aug. 31, 1995 she won the title of Miss Zion.

On July 24, Stewart was crowned Miss Lake County. The Lake County Pageant was definitely different for Stewart.

"I liked it (the pageant) a lot . . . but in Zion there was no bathing suit contest," explained Stewart. "We had a talent competition instead and I like that better because it shows a more well rounded person . . . it shows that beauty is less important."

Stewart has been going to the Lake County Fair for most of her life. Even as a small child her favorite events were always the demolition derby and the pageant.

"I have always gone to the fair and it was See QUEENS page B2

Littlest creature leads hero to rescue him

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff Reporter

Beemer didn't know it was his lucky day when Bob Peterson of Wildwood rescued him, but the little kitten surely had a guardian angel looking after him the day Bob heard his cry.

Bob was removing trash from the flooded pond near the car dealership he works for in Highland Park following heavy rain storms.

"I got to work around 6:30 a.m. and I was out there digging up stuff," explained Bob of all the trash in the pond.

He saw a burlap bag floating in the water and decided it was too far out to retrieve, but then he heard an animal cry.

— Bob Peterson

"As soon as I heard it, I knew what it was," he emphasized of the wallowing sound coming from the bag.

He walked into the water and opened the bag which was partially submerged. Upon opening it he discovered five kittens inside, all but one had died. The little kitten was taken back to the shop dried off, fed and then Bob called his wife.

"I've been there two years and this is the first I've ever seen anything like that," he said of an incident at the lake.

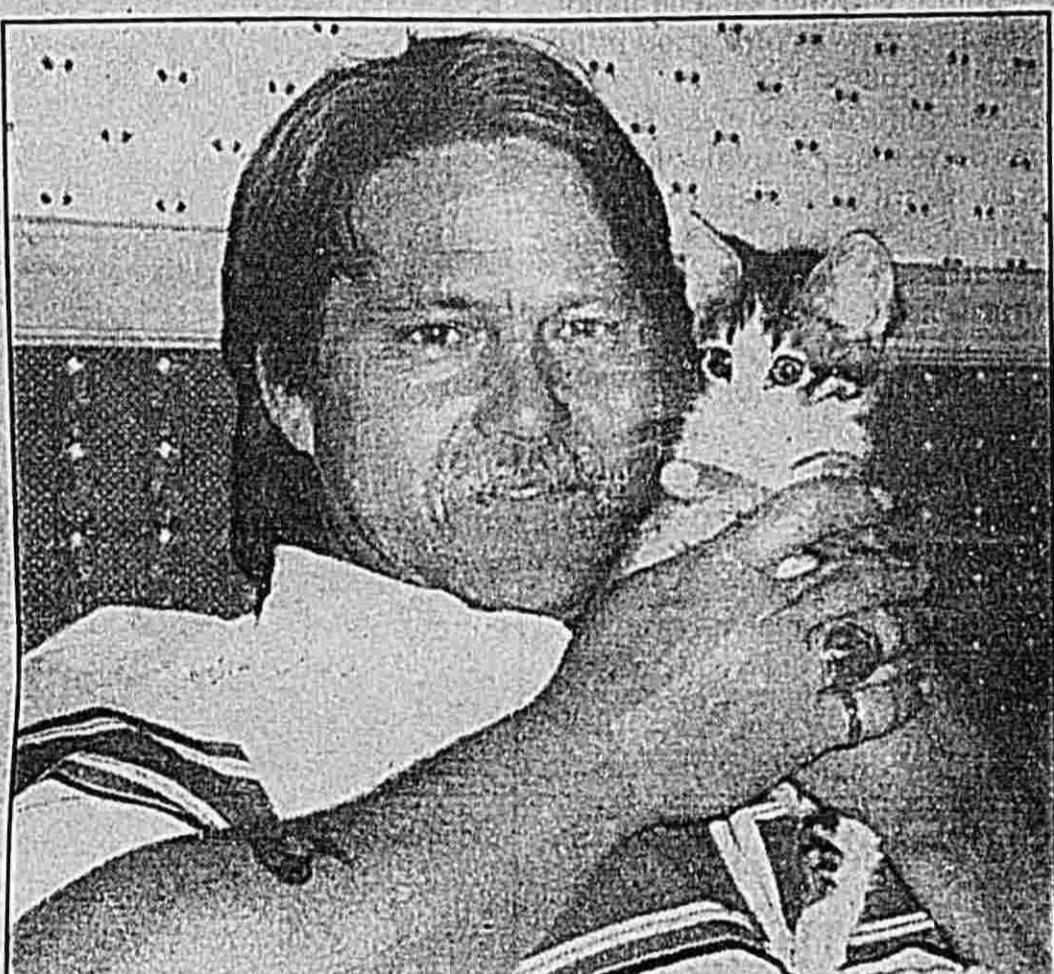

For the next two weeks the whole family including Bob's wife, Laura, and his daughter, Becky, 14, fed the kitten newborn formula from a bottle.

"When my husband called that day he asked what kind of mood I was in," joked Laura about his proposing they take in another animal.

Laura said there really was nothing else she could say. Beemer's new family includes the Peterson's cat, Mischief; a dog, Cassie; a rabbit, Fluffer; and two gerbils, Nosy and Trouble.

Beemer weighed just 10 ounces when he was rescued by Bob Peterson.

Wildwood resident Bob Peterson cuddles with Beemer, the kitten he rescued from a bag found in a pond near his job at a BMW dealership in Highland Park. The kitten was named for the dealership.

The kitten seems to have recovered quickly. The day he was rescued Bob took him to the vet to be examined, the little thing only weighed 10 ounces and the vet estimated it was only four weeks old. At the last visit Beemer weighed two pounds.

"The only thing I can really say is I don't see why people do that: Our dog was the same; he was left in a box and found his way to the Humane Society," Bob said of the senseless incident. "I was raised on a farm and you don't do this."

Beemer must have survived through his fighter instinct. Bob said he's a feisty little thing and doesn't back down to the dog or cat.

"I'm glad we have him; he keeps us entertained," he said.

Tragic death of 4-Her remembered with award

AMANDA MILLER

Staff Reporter

The second annual Wyngate Orr Good Samaritan Award was announced at the 1996 Lake County Fair in remembrance of the good hearted 4-Her.

Jim Doolittle of Antioch was chosen to receive the award.

"I feel honored," Doolittle said. "I knew Wyngate when he was in rocketry before he died and he was a really great day."

Wyngate Orr of Libertyville passed away after being hit by a car on June 15, 1995. He was going to get a Libertyville bus driver coffee when a car hit and killed him.

Wyngate was remembered as an active member of the 4-H Club, especially in the Rocketry program. Rocketry was his favorite activity so an award was developed in his honor to be given to other Good Samaritans within the 4-H Club.

The qualifications to receive this prestigious award are that the 4-Her must be involved for at least one year and that the person shows Good Samaritan qualities.

"People that go out of their way to do a good deed and to help others . . . 4-Hers that volunteer and don't cause any hassle are Good Samaritans," explained George Walton, creator of the Wyngate Orr award and head of the rocketry program at 4-H.

Doolittle has spent six to seven years in 4-H rocketry and has definitely exemplified the qualities of a Good Samaritan.

"Jim was always there when people needed help and volunteered to help set up the fair and help others on a regular basis," said Walton.

The main purpose of the award is to remember Wyngate Orr.

"This award is keeping Wyngate in mind and also it's showing kids that it does pay to be a Good Samaritan," said Walton.

Queens —

a real shock to find myself on the opposite side of the stage than what I'm used to," said Stewart.

Miss Zion's reign has almost ended, but her reign as Miss Lake County has just begun.

Her major goal for both titles was to represent the town or county. Another major goal for Stewart is to be a good role model for others in the area.

Along with her college major, Stewart wants to be a good influence for children.

During this past year Stewart has done many activities for children of the area. She did storytelling at Westlake Christian Academy and also created an after school club called Girl Talk for 5th and 6th graders where they talked about topics that concerned them.

Stewart hopes to get a teaching job now that she is almost done with college.

"I'd really like to stay in this area to teach... my family is here and I like being in the Lake County area," said Stewart.

SRACLC plans golf outing

The Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County will be hosting its second Annual Golf Outing, Sept. 19, at Brae Loch Golf Course in Grayslake.

All proceeds will benefit the special olympics program. The outing will begin with a 1 p.m. Shot gun start, and a scramble format will be played.

The outing includes 18 holes of golf with cart, an express lunch, golf contests, and a buffet dinner.

Hole contests with prizes will be given out, including a gift certificate for a custom-fitted driver. Raffles will also add to the excitement, with many prizes to be given away.

"The cost is reasonable compared to many other fund raisers in the area," explains Carolyn Chambers, public relations coordinator. "We want the community to be able to help a local group whose work is visible to the public, so they know where there support is going".

The cost is $100 to be a hole sponsor, $240 for 4 golfers and $315 to be a hole sponsor plus have four golfers.

There is still openings available for golfers, hole sponsors, and prize donations. It's a great way to have fun and support a great cause.

AT A GLANCE

Massive project moving ahead

ROUND LAKE—The developer of the proposed 1,890-unit Arrow Lake subdivision is getting down to the final details with village officials as the Plan Commission prepares for a recommendation to the Village Board.

Ray Wolfel, zoning director, said the commission and the Penguin Group are still negotiating impacts to schools and the village, maintenance of the 440 acres of wetlands and density. Wolfel said the density number will likely go down. The commission is meeting in subcommittees to discuss issues relating to this subdivision.

The parcel is located at the intersection of Fairfield Road and Rte. 134 and extends south to the Wilson Road. The commission won't meet in August and will have meetings on Sept. 10 and Sept. 17 in attempt to wrap up the remaining issues.—by ALEC JUNGE

Station work nearly finished

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Village Administrator David Kilbane said the village will have most of the train station work completed by the opening of the Metra commuter line on Aug. 19.

The village has spent $2 million in land acquisition, station work and road improvements. The road improvements include Hook Lane, extending Orchard Lane and straightening out Mallard Creek Drive. The 960-square-foot station will include 200 parking space and tree-line boulevard with nostalgic light fixtures.

The station is located west of Rte. 83 just north of the Mallard Creek Shopping Center.—by ALEC JUNGE

Mud volleyball for everyone

WAUCONDA—It's time to get muddy with the Wauconda Park District this weekend, with the revival of a Mud Volleyball Tournament. The tournament was once a summer standby for 10 years, and ceased to be held three years ago with the construction of the Wauconda Park District's Community Center built where the tournament was held.

Three muddy courts have been created behind the center for a double-elimination mudfest Aug. 3, with teams set to get down-and-dirty at 10 a.m.

Winners will receive trophies and T-shirts to replace the ones they wear during the games.

Anyone wanting to catch all the action should stop by Cook Park, 600 N. Main St. The tournament will be held behind the concession stands, near the Garland Road entrance.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Musicians storm Lake County

LAKE ZURICH—The Second Annual Lake County Folk Festival is being held Aug. 4 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. in Paulus Park, on Route 12 just north of Route 22.

A list of 10 professional folk music artists will perform on the main concert stage, beginning at 11 a.m., featuring some well known musician's across the Midwest, such as Dan Zahn, Bill Robinson and Small Potatoes.

Four other stages will feature music from the Lake County Folk Club, sounds from hammered dulcimer groups and a workshop, featuring a jam session for anyone to join. Another stage will feature children's activities.

The festival will also feature a number of crafters and a line-up of restaurants from Lake Zurich. Many of the performers will have their tapes on sale, and a raffle will be held with a top prize being a guitar.

A fee of $7 per person or $18 per family is required to enter the festival.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

MHS construction on track

MUNDELEIN—Roof repairs at Mundelein High School are expected to be completed before school opens Aug. 13. Construction on the new parking lot should also be finished, with most of the east lot accessible, said MHS Superintendent Art Newbrough.

Because of construction on the new addition, however, access to the school building will be limited to the south and west entrances and the door by the pool.—by SUZIE REED

Hotel guest rescues child

GURNEE—A hotel guest is being credited with saving the life of a young child.

An 8-year-old from Chicago was believed to have drowned in five feet of water at a Gurnee Holiday Inn swimming pool.

He was rescued by Manuel Villegas, of Sterling, Ill. "The child was playing in five feet of water. Witnesses say he was not breathing and did not have a pulse. Villegas started CPR on him," Gurnee Fire Chief Tim McGrath said.

The youngster, who was not identified, was at the pool with his mom just before 10 p.m. July 28. Five paramedics quickly responded to the scene, but Villegas' efforts are deemed essential in keeping the toddler alive.

"Our guys (paramedics) said they feel he would have drowned if he was revived. We are really fortunate an individual was trained in CPR," McGrath said.

The youth was eventually transported to Children's Memorial Hospital and is expected to live.—by STEVE PETERSON

Grayslake crash fatal

GRAYSLAKE—A dump truck collided into a vehicle at the intersection of Routes 83 and 137, July 26 at 1:40 p.m. resulting in one fatality.

Maureen Walker 47, of Grayslake the mother of two girls and a teacher at Gurnee's Spaulding School was airlifted from the scene of the accident to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge where she was later pronounced dead.

Walker was driving her 1993 Ford Thunderbird northbound on Route 83 when a Ford dump truck owned by Sunset Cartage of McHenry ran a red light as it headed south on Route 83 and struck Walker on the drivers side. The truck then flipped on its side and lost a load of sand.

The driver of the truck Patrick Johansen of Huntley Illinois was ticketed for disobeying a traffic control device.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Parking woes may be solved

LIBERTYVILLE—An innovative ride share program is recruiting participants. The Platinum Parking Program is open to anyone who commutes via the Libertyville Milwaukee District North Line station.

The program has premium parking spaces reserved for participants who may either carpool in their vehicle or a leased Pace VIP Van. Car pools require a minimum of three people, van pools require five or more persons. Assistance is available in matching those interested to form a group. The village also has agreed to sponsor a grant application by the Transportation Management Association which would allow expansion of the program to industrial parks in the Libertyville area for reverse commuters.

The program is aimed at freeing up parking in the downtown area. For further information call the TMA of Lake County at 816-8393 or CATS Rideshare Services at 1-800-920-7433.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

School fees lowered

FOX LAKE—School District 114 parents may be pleased. Instead of a doubling of registration fees, there will be an average 25 percent increase over last year's fees. School board officials made the announcement of the change at the last regular meeting. In past meetings, crowds of parents urged the board to turn over the double fee hike.

"If parents who asked for reconsideration of the fee increases follow through on their promises to assist in fund raising and work toward the passage of a referendum, it will more than make up for the money lost by rolling back the registration fees," explained Nancy Koske, school board president.—by TINA L. SWIECH

Clinton invited to Antioch

ANTIOCH—President Bill Clinton received an invitation, Republican presidential hopeful Robert Dole has expressed an interest and Illinois Governor Jim Edgar may show up at the Metra grand opening ceremony in Antioch Aug. 18. None, however, have committed or confirmed their appearances. The new Metra commuter train line along the Wisconsin Central Railroad will begin daily service Aug. 19, following the grand opening ceremonies. Antioch will host the ceremony Aug. 18 at 1 p.m., and there will be 3-minute stops at each train station along the line to Chicago's Union Station.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

U.S. Route 41 improvements underway in Highland Park

Intersection improvements on U.S. Route 41 near Highland Park started earlier this month.

They are aimed at relieving traffic at the Park Ave. West and Half Day Road intersections.

Bolander Construction is handling the improvements, and Alfred Benesch and Co. has been hired as the project coordinator on behalf of the City of Highland Park.

Since the project began, traffic control has increased. There is a lane-reduction on the south side of Half Day Road due to water main installation.

After the water main is in place (scheduled for early September), the eastbound lane should re-open.

Warship sails to Navy Pier

The USS Oliver Hazard Perry, a guided missile frigate, is docked at Navy Pier as part of the U.S. Navy's 1996 Great Lakes Cruise.

The public is invited to tour the ship through Aug. 4 from 1 to 7 p.m.

Flooding zones defying reality

Officialdom recognizes that floods are inevitable. The benchmark for stormwater management is the "100 year rain," the rare occurrence in nature that will wreaks wide-spread havoc and destruction.

Farmers in silt-rich riverbottoms are willing to gamble that the seasons when they can garner a bountiful harvest far outnumber infrequent floods or standing water that destroy a growing season. That's the reality of "farming the bottoms."

Suburban dwellers can't afford that gamble. They're not equipped financially or emotionally to absorb a periodic loss because their high water experience is so devastating, so permanent.

Yet, hasn't society bought into that "farming the bottoms" mentality by continuing to build homes in flood ways and flood plains? We're rolling the dice against the natural disaster that no one argues isn't inevitable.

Determining the exact cost in dollars of the recent rain and flood devastation in DuPage and Kane counties will take longer than the cleanup. Recovery efforts in Aurora, one of the hardest-hit communities, will exceed $100 million alone. Unbelievably, a two-month equivalent of solid waste was deposited in city landfills in the aftermath of flooding triggered by a record-breaking rain deluge.

A major portion of the DuPage and Kane flood damage resulted from building in flood-prone areas. Individual heartbreak at the loss of homes and possessions aside, it should have been no surprise at the consequences when the inevitable occurs. We make that observation at the risk of being considered cold and heartless. But truth and reality can be cold and heartless, too.

Money-hungry politicians and greedy developers shouldn't be blamed alone for the south suburban mess only a chance storm system from Lake County, which could be in the path of the next deluge. The consequences here of record rainfall and subsequent flooding undoubtedly would be comparable to Aurora, Joliet, Naperville and the Shorewood vicinity several weeks ago.

Blame goes beyond village hall and the county building. Politicians wouldn't approve and builders wouldn't build homes in floodways marked for disaster if the public was alert and astute enough to buy on high ground out of harm's way.

No community hereabouts is immune from future flood damage, as past experience testifies. That ominous "100 year rain" is bound to catch up with us. What's to be done? Sadly, flood-prone neighborhoods can only prepare for future disaster, like residents of hurricane territory and river bottom country. What can and should be done is to abandon the notion that rolling the dice with nature like river bottom farmers is a way of life. Ignoring good stormwater management precepts, desecration of natural wetlands and floodway building ought to be unacceptable in Lake County.

We simply have to stop sowing the seeds of our own destruction.

COMMENTARY

Welton's tax rebate plan tinged with cynicism

NORMAN C. GEARY

Dick Welton, whose vision of Gurnee and Lake County is measured against the Wisconsin Dells (refer to entertainment corridor comments last month), is saying: "It's about time somebody looks out for the taxpayer, and I am going to represent them in seeking the rebate."

This is the same mayor that engineered one of the largest village annexations in the history of Lake County a scant six years ago. The result of that annexation was to change Lake County's "countryside" zoning designation to a density level over 10 times what was planned by our county planners.

Now, onerous traffic congestion, mega malls, commercial development and thousands upon thousands of new homes are the added result.

That annexation was done without a (pre-annexation agreement) which could have reduced the tax impact on the people when it really would have made a difference!

Effectively, that zoning change multiplied the land values overnight to the benefit of wealthy land owners — once again at the expense of the taxpayer. An outright gift from the now benevolent mayor.

It would have made more sense, as all plainly can see now, to control the growth and limit the density when we had a chance. How tragic that 72 months later, the people now ask: "How have we benefited from this growth?" "Was it really worth it?"

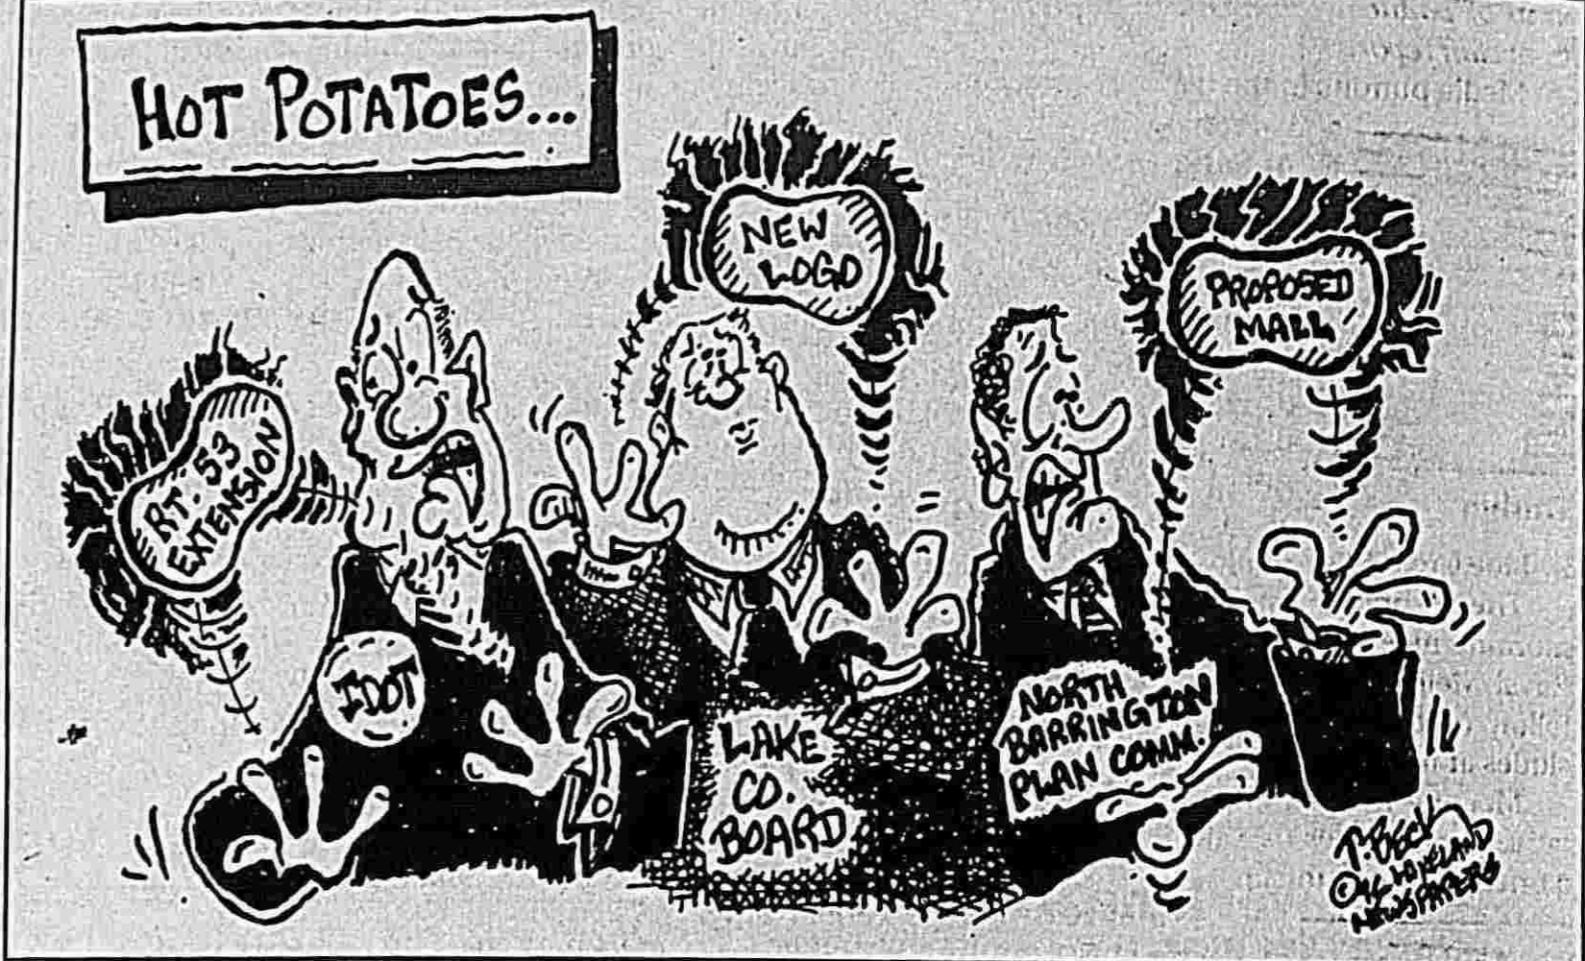

Let me assure you; this has nothing to do with next April's mayoral election. Really!

And, nothing to do with the fact the voters of that region just blew Bob Depke out of the water for this exact same reason. I wonder how the voters will respond next April.

Ostrich rage engulfs Illinois farm buffs

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

Illinois is about to OD on the ostrich rage. Gov. Jim Edgar was so taken with the explosion of ostrich popularity that he proclaimed July 28-Aug. 3 Ostrich Awareness Week, the first such recognition in the U.S. That proves that our state's chief executive is on the ball.

Members of the Illinois Chapter of the American Ostrich Assn., are out to educate the unknowing about the Illinois ostrich industry, regarded as potentially the most profitable agri-business to emerge in decades.

So much for the llama craze. Onward and upward for the gawky long-legged, crane-necked bird that produces ostrich leather, feathers and the meat course in a growing number of restaurants and eating places. Ostrich steaks, roasts, burgers and numerous other meat items are here to stay. Chefs are calling ostrich the healthy red meat of the future.

The future is now, according to Jack Bowes, manager of the popular Crossroads eatery at Ivanhoe operated by his family. Ostrich appears on the Crossroads menu from time to time. "It's snapped up right away," declared Bowes, whose allegiance to good, old American beef is testified by showing four consecutive grand champions in beef competition at the Lake County Fair.

Ostrich farming has taken hold in Lake County, although Bill and Liz Maloney of Lake Forest are the only county residents belonging to the Illinois Chapter of AOA. Their operation is known as Par-A-Dice Ostrich. Association ranks total 105 members, including one Indiana spread.

Healthy eaters like the low fat, low cholesterol, low calorie qualities of ostrich meat, which usually is served in fillet form. Ostrich meat has been a staple in Africa for 100 years. The birds were introduced to the U.S. about 10 years ago.

Despite the burgeoning popularity of ostrich farming or ranching, you won't have to worry about neighbors converting their backyard to a paddock. Unlike Vietnamese pigs, an ostrich doesn't fit the suburban scene. The birds are big, plenty big, growing to a height of seven or eight feet with adults weighing 250 to 350 pounds.

On second thought, maybe the village fathers would be advised to adopt an ostrich control ordinance in case anyone gets some ideas about raising the fine-feathered and silky-skinned creatures.

SALVI BACKERS—Al Salvi could be the beneficiary of an unprecedented outpouring of support from the substantial Italian-American population in Chicago, normally associated with the Democrats.

Italian leaders see an opportunity to make history in Illinois. If Salvi is victorious in his campaign for the U.S. Senate, he would be the first Italian-American elected to the senate from the Prairie State.

Illinois voters displayed a fondness for trailblazing four years ago when they sent the first African-American and the first woman from Illinois to the senate in the person of Carol Moseley-Braun. Will Salvi be the next recipient of the desire of Illinois voters to break from tradition?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Pollsters ignore base vote

Editor:

One more time the New York Times gives their Presidential choice a big lead in the polls. We are all told on CBS TV News that the President of the United States remains over 20 points ahead of his Republican rival in the Presidential Sweepstakes according to the latest New York Times/CBS Poll.

The simple fact of the matter is that at this time the base vote for the Republican Party is very definitely not less than 35%. And I might add the base vote for the Democrat Party is 35%. Even New York Times/CBS story tellers know that fact. The story tellers also know that other political party candidates will account for at least 20 percent of the popular vote nationally.

Let's add this up. 35% + 35% + 20% = 90%. Therefore, with only 10% remaining, neither major party candidate could possibly be ahead by more than 10 points. The New York Times/CBS spin doctors will simply have to make their big lie smaller.

The facts demonstrate that the race for the office of President of the United States is very close, and any state by state analysis will prove that. Actually one of the major party candidates has just a slight lead in the popular vote and that lead is enough to engender a victory in the Electoral College.

However until the filing for ballot position is completed in every state, and each state declares See LETTERS page B5

PARTY LINES

Media courting Salvi-Durbin debate on health care

Party lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Media pundits in the big city have been whooping it up for an Al Salvi-Dick Durbin debate—without success.

There's a good chance a joint appearance of the two U.S. Senate candidates will take place Monday, Aug. 5, at a Long Grove conference being staged by Blue Cross Blue Shield of Illinois.

The insurance giant has scheduled a morning meeting on health care reform at Royal Melbourne Country Club. Golf will follow (naturally) when the meeting concludes at noon.

Meeting planners have scheduled tentative appearances by Salvi and Durbin for a brief pre-lunch forum.

Congressional heavyweights from parties are expected to participate including Republicans Denny Hastert, Henry Hyde and Phill Crane, and Democrats Cardiss Collins, Bill Lipinski and Jesse Jackson Jr.

Crane There's no truth to the rumor that Royal Melbourne is expanding its parking lot to provide space for all the VIP limos.

Salvi guest speaker—The Business and Professional Women of Lake County (BPW) will welcome a familiar name if not a familiar face to the podium Aug. 8. Kathleen Salvi, wife of GOP senatorial candidate Al Salvi, will be the guest speaker at the public meeting. Known to Lake Countians as a champion of family causes, Salvi served as an assistant public defender for the county in 1985. She joined the County Young Republicans in 1987 and currently serves on the board of directors of Midtown Education Foundation in Chicago, working for youth education and character development. She has also been active with the National Institute of Womenhood (NIW). This will be one of Mrs. Salvi's first public engagements since the birth of her fifth child, David, in June.

Crane honored by seniors—The Seniors Coalition honored Rep. Phill Crane of Illinois, one of the nation's leading protectors of Medicare, with The Seniors Coalition Meritorious Service Award.

Hess hand-me downs—Democratic candidate for Recorder of Deeds Mary Ellen Vanderventer will be seen in 17 parades this summer, sporting a red, white and blue Uncle Sam costume willed to her by former County Clerk Linda Hess. Vanderventer is also riding high during the parades in a 1930 Model A Ford.

Campaign opening—State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-60) kicked off the 1996 campaign with the official opening of her campaign office, Sunday. The office is located at 1898 First Street, Highland Park.

First Impressions—Sworn in as a Mundelein trustee on July 1, Angela Trillhaase took a day off a mere three weeks later, informing the village board she would not be present at the July 22 meeting. She had a valid excuse, however, more than a year earlier she had been accepted as a volunteer worker at the 1996 Olympic games. Luckily for her, July 29 was a fifth Monday with no meeting, so she only missed one.

After her eight-hour shift as an usher and ticket taker in the Georgia Dome, Trillhaase did go to Centennial Park Saturday evening but was safely away when the bomb blast occurred.

Fees still too high—While Fox Lake Elementary School District 114 parent Judy

Jones agrees with lowering registration fees which were initially double from last year, she says the 25 percent overall increase is too high. "I still don't plan on paying more than $50," an outspoken Jones said.

One option is a referendum, but Jones believes it'll never pass with the large senior population in town. Fundraisers are the answer, she said. "If we can put a park in a swamp [on Rollins Road], why can't they hold fundraisers?" she questions.

Are you listening school leaders?

Rebate update—Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton said residents there are reacting positively to the prospect of a property tax rebate for homeowners.

"The reaction has been positive. We are talking about coming up with $2 - $2.5 million for a 10 percent rebate. That is why Bass Pro (a new Gurnee Mills anchor) is so important and we are talking with a number of car dealerships interested in the area," Welton said.

Welton said people on fixed incomes and others have been asking him how they benefit from Gurnee's growth.

The village board authorized staff study of the rebate plan.

Welton debunked the charge by critics that he is proposing the idea born in Crestwood to foster his re-election chances.

"If I wanted to tie it to the election, I would have presented it at that time," Welton said.

"I fully intend to run again," he said of the April municipal election.

More Welton it has been a year since the padlocks were shut on Welton's County Market after a 40-year run. The closing date was Aug. 1.

Welton has since been working with Lt. Gov. Robert Kustra's office on assisting local communities to finance capital projects. Two local projects include Lake Villa's train station and financing for Lake Villa Fire Protection District equipment purchase.

Welton's area includes all of north of I-80.

Reeling in crime—Wauconda has published a four-page pamphlet on its boating and fishing ordinances for all outdoor water enthusiasts to use.

The pamphlets are available at village hall and the police department, with the cover clearly stating that "Bangs Lake is Police Patrolled" in all capital letters.

The brochure leaves little excuse for anyone caught doing anything illegal on the lake.

Watch what you say—Joyce Frayer, expected to run as an independent candidate against incumbent Suzi Schmidt of unincorporated Lake Villa for District 3 County Board, was angered by Schmidt's comment that she hoped it would be a clean campaign. Frayer thinks the comment was uncalled for based on her previous campaigns. She was mayor of Lake Villa for 12 years and was elected again as a trustee in 1995.

Frayer

Pretty Woman—Lake County and specifically the Cuneo Museum and Gardens in Vernon Hills will be graced by the beauty and charm of famed actress Julia Roberts.

The "Pretty Woman" actress is in town filming a new movie titled "My Best Friend's Wedding."

She has been sighted at Chicago's O'Hare Airport and Comiskey Park so far.

Insiders told Party Lines the magnificent John F. Cuneo Mansion—now a museum and gardens—will be the next stop on the filming trail for Roberts.

Let Party Lines be the first to welcome the Hollywood beauty to Lake County.

Quite frankly, both major political parties may see an expected victory in a given state disappear. The more I learn about this year's election, the more I realize all of us should not pay any attention to any major media election poll. My suggestion to everybody is to forget the polls, and just go and vote on Nov. 5, 1996, for the candidate of your choice. One thing is for certain — this year your vote can really count. This year send your message—VOTE.

And what about the major media pollsters? Perhaps we need a warning label above the New York Times banner on page 1, and a warning label before the Major Media Soap Box Opera News stating: WARNING: THE INFORMATION THAT YOU ARE ABOUT TO DIGEST MAY OF MAY NOT BE FACT. YOUR GUESS IS AS GOOD AT MINE!

Keep Wauconda intimate

Editor:

My hopes rose when I read that Wauconda's center would be revitalized. Then a developer comes along and wants to build another Dominicks—just a 10 minutes drive north of the one in Lake Zurich.

And our town fathers gave them the time of day, and even considered concessions. Come on—do you call fragmenting our small town, tearing it apart, a way to revitalize? Our leaders caved in to the newest pervasive corporate insanity of in-your-face challenging any opposition, grabbing every dollar from them they can, to be bigger and biggest. This sick routine occurs everywhere and rubber stamps communities to oblivion, leaving them with no real local identity to be proud of. And when the profits fall a little short they pull out and leave vast dead areas of concrete. Happens all the time. In the meantime town centers with the comfortable, steadfast businesses have been killed. Happens all the time.

Certainly you should give no concessions to a corporate giant that does nothing to enhance our village. Dominicks is not needed. But the private citizen with a dream and personal commitment is; and they alone should be encouraged. We have the basis to create a 1st class village. We shouldn't waste time on the common quick fix. We have enough corporate giants, with no respect for our village and its goals, to last a lifetime, already.

It's a tragic mistake to give over our destiny to the corporate giants whose only interest is to make money. With their mind-set to better their competition at every turn they would happily suffocate every square mile of this state. We are becoming homogenized enough as it is, bombarded on TV and billboards, etc. Not only do we lose our identity but our spirit; when they make us believe that we can't live without them. Like the dumb sheep we've become, embracing their gimmicks and flattery and pseudo-concern for our welfare, a thousand miles from their corporate headquarters and light years away from their protected homes, we sell our souls for the few tax dollars they promise us, forgetting the price we pay to feed their voracious appetites. The malls, the spreading cancer of corporate generated stores, need not be inevitable. Only the weak and silent, the suckers and the gullible think so. And the developers and land speculators.

Long Grove found a way to remain intimate and beautiful and prosperous, and they hold the line against the insidious onslaught of the corporate monsters that orchestrate the spread of the ubiquitous chain stores, of every strip, ad nauseam. If they can keep their focus so steadfast, surely the Wauconda fathers can do the same, and not be swayed by every wind that comes away.

Will of people ignored

Editor:

Gurnee trustees have been sold a bill of goods by Steven Leonard representing Home Depot. The board voted to allow Home Depot to build on Grand Ave., west of Hunt Club Rd., despite objections of homeowners of Stonebrook, a subdivision to the proposed store.

The home owners have a bona fide complaint. Bringing more congestion, noise, truck deliveries, patron traffic, and a public address system, etc.

Home Depot can put up a store anywhere. People will drive to come to them and shop. Now they will have to split the market share with Menards. The competition will not be able to enjoy the volume of sales much longer. Nor will Home Depot get the amount of traffic they anticipate.

Why didn't Leonard look into placing the store on Rte. 41? Not only will they have a free hand, but they will be able to provide a much more needed service to the industrial businesses, in and around Gurnee, instead of homeowners who have every right to object.

What is so wrong is the will of the people has been denied! The board has overruled the requests of the homeowners in favor of big business.

Not only is this wrong in our corner of our country, to vote against the people's wishes, but it is wrong anywhere in our country. We can't get this point across to the people we elect to serve us. They have a job. We have the burden.

Partnership offers immunization clinics

Good Shepherd Hospital, Barrington, will host a child immunization clinic from 5 to 7 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 6 in the Lakeview/Prairie rooms of the hospital. The cost of each immunization is $6. Parents should bring their child's immunization record with them to the clinic.

Immunizations offered include the early childhood diphtheria/pertussis/tetanus (DPT), measles/mumps/rubella (MMR), polio, hepatitis, and influenza.

"The clinic is being held as part of the hospital's ongoing commitment to community health outreach activities and is coordinated with the Lake County Community Health Partnership," said Syl Boeder, Good Shepherd's director of community relations.

The Partnership includes all Lake County hospitals, the Lake County Health Department, Lake County Medical Society, County Government, the College of Lake County, the Lake County United Way, area businesses and social service agencies, Boeder added.

A study commissioned by the Partnership shows that only 68 percent of Lake County children have received the recommended schedule of immunizations by age two. By age 3, one out of five children in the study still did not have the shots they should have received by age two.

In response to the study, all Lake County hospitals, including Good Shepherd, will host regular monthly clinics for families needing immunizations who lack personal physicians, or for whom the cost of immunizations would be an undue financial burden. Good Shepherd's monthly clinic will be held 5 to 7 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month. The clinic will be staffed by nurses from the Lake County Health Department, which also will provide the vaccine.

To schedule an appointment for the immunization clinic at Good Shepherd, call Good Shepherd's Health Advisor line at 1-800-3233-8622. Walk-ins will also be accepted. For clinical information about the immunizations, call the Lake County Health Department Immunization Clinic staff at 360-3114.

Experts offer tips for mending broken hearts

The number one killer of Americans isn't cancer—it's heart disease. It has been since 1900 (except for 1918). According to American Heart Association Statistics, nearly 42 percent of all deaths are caused by heart disease. That's a lot of lives. And that statistic doesn't reflect the millions of Americans whose lives are adversely affected because they live with some form of the disease on a daily basis.

In Lake County, evidence of the rising number of people with heart disease is seen in the growth of cardiac health programs. The Cardiopulmonary Health Services department at Victory Memorial Hospital, for instance, was recently expanded to accommodate its increasing number of patients and program participants.

Years ago, a person diagnosed with heart disease (or someone who survived a heart attack) took precautions to take it easy, rest and not over-exert. Today, under a physician's guidance and with the help of programs offered by groups like Cardiopulmonary Health Services, people manage the disease and successfully make important heart-healthy lifestyle changes.

Victory's professional cardiopulmonary staff suggests the following guidelines for improving heart health:

Stop Smoking. According to the American Heart Association, smoking puts an added strain on your heart. It causes the blood vessels to constrict, making it more difficult for the heart to push blood through them.

Reduce Fat and Lower Cholesterol. Fats and cholesterol build up on artery walls, slowing the blood flow until arteries are completely blocked. Eating less fat also helps control weight.

Maintain a Healthy Weight. Excess weight can make your heart work harder. Following a healthy diet and a regular exercise program helps to keep weight at an appropriate level.

Exercise Your Heart. The Public Health Service says that exercise helps muscles, including the heart, get oxygen from the blood. While routine exercise should be part of everyone's daily activity, it is recommended that you consult your physician before beginning any new exercise regimen.

Manage Stress. Stress can affect your blood pressure and your heart. Getting appropriate rest is one way to alleviate stress. Routine exercise, like walking, aerobics or joining a heart healthy workout center.

A free pamphlet, "Heart Healthy Tips", featuring small changes you can make to your lifestyle that will improve your health is available by calling Victory Memorial Hospital's Community Relations Department at 1-800-THE-CHOICE. For information on programs and services offered by the newly expanded Cardiopulmonary Health Services, call Victory's heart health professionals at 360-4131.

Join a dynamic group of women and explore a holistic approach to wellness. Women's Wellness Week offers: a supervised nutritional low-fat food program, exercise classes, challenge programs and healthy life style seminars. August 18-23, 1996.

YMCA Camp Duncan is a beautiful and peaceful resident camp located in Ingleside, Illinois. The camp is a 1/2 hour west of Great America and one hour northwest of Chicago. Camp Duncan possesses a quiet natural beauty that includes large, old oak trees and a private lake. Duncan's well maintained facilities include a dining hall with knotty pine walls that house two stone fireplaces, rustic cabins, modern centrally located washrooms, a well equipped lake front, Olympic size indoor swimming pool and 400 acres of natural beauty. # Ride the rails on a trip back in time at museum

Yes, it is possible to turn back the hands of time. Come out to the country's largest railway museum—the Illinois Railway Museum (IRM) in Union, Illinois and ride a Chicago streetcar, a steam train, or a pre-Amtrak silver streamliner.

Riding historic and antique trains is possible for the 30 year this summer at the "museum in motion." IRM will operate trains daily through Labor Day.

IRM has grown quite a bit since its founding in 1953 with one electric car. The 350 diverse pieces of railway equipment in the collection make IRM the largest railway museum in the country. The museum is one of only a few railway museums that operate steam, diesel and electric trains. Last year visitors from 34 foreign countries and 48 states came to see and ride the trains at this rail transportation time capsule.

Back on July 17, 1996, restored Illinois Terminal streetcar No. 415 rolled down a short stretch of track at the museum under its own power carrying museum members and a few public visitors. Today, Illinois Terminal car No. 415 still continues to carry passengers on what has grown to 6 miles of track. Interestingly, IT No. 415 has been owned by IRM for 40 years, 8 years longer than the IT itself owned the car.

The Zephyr train is the Queen of the Museum's collection, and it looks as sharp as the day it was built 60 years ago. It's known as the Train of the Goddesses, because each car is named after a Greek Goddess of mythology. The train is a native of Chicago, running about 8 million miles on the Burlington Railroad for 32 years in and out of Union Station, carrying millions of passengers on their travels. You may have seen it "starring" in the movie "A League of Their Own."

The Museum's grounds open at 10 a.m. and visitors are welcome to use the picnic facilities and explore the collection of equipment.

Weekend admission to the museum is $8 for adults and $6 for children (ages 5-11) and seniors. Weekday admission is $6 and $3.50. The admission entitles visitors to unlimited rides on equipment operating that day.

The not-for-profit Illinois Railway Museum is located in Union at 7000 Olson Road, six miles northwest of the US-20 Marengo exit of the I-90 Northwest Tollway. For recorded information call 800-BIG-RAIL, or call 815-923-4000.

'Cruisin' the Nile' in classic cars offers unusual summer fun

NEAL TUCKER

Regional Editor

The morning sun rises above the peak of the pyramid, casting a long, angular shadow over the sand far below. A stone pharaoh stands in the shadows, jutting more than 30 feet into the sky, paying homage to the great leader laid to rest inside.

It's a mystical ken back to the common lifestyle of wealthy Egyptian rulers.

The $10 home tour price includes a trip to the King Tut's tomb. Proceeds of the tour will also be donated to Our Lady of Humility.

The doors open Aug. 2 at 6:30 p.m. with a musical performance scheduled by "Critics Choice" at 7 p.m. Tickets are $12 at the door. The tickets purchased on Friday allow for free admission on either Saturday or Sunday.

Activities on Aug. 3 begin at noon. Single day admission price is $3 for adults or $1 for children under 12. Festival goers will be entertained by the country and western band "Kickin' Country" from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. and the 50s and 60s band "Grease" from 5 to 8 p.m. Throughout the day the whole family can enjoy a wide variety of beverages, food, children's games and Midway-style games.

August 4 is a full day beginning with a pancake breakfast from 10 to 11:30 a.m. The $5 breakfast ticket for adults, $3 for children 12 and under includes admission to the festival. The rock band "Rockefellers" will provide musical entertainment from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. At the time also, the classic cars will be out in force.

The moat, which surrounds the Pyramid House, will be the site of draggin' ducks at 3:30 p.m. The plastic duck race has a first prize of $100. Tickets for the event are $5 per duck.

Throughout the festival, people can buy a $10 raffle ticket for the opportunity to win a 1981 Corvette. At 5 p.m. Aug. 4, the lucky winner will be announced.

scene, making viewers feel they've been transported to another world or possibly some ethereal plane.

Then, to break the silence one hears . . . the throaty roar of a 1957 Chevy with a 327 short block, headers and cherry bomb mufflers. No this isn't Egypt but there is a pyramid, a statue and a pharaoh's tomb. There are also hordes of classic automobiles, food booths and entertainment.

The annual event is called "Cruisin' the Nile" and it occurs at the most unusual of homes, the Pyramid House in Wadsworth. Now in its fifth year, the celebration has grown from a small classic car show into a virtual food and entertainment festival.

This year, the actual car show is scheduled for Sunday only, Aug. 4, but the entire event is a three-day extravaganza beginning Aug. 2 with an evening of music and an old-fashioned hog roast.

Cruisin' had a humble beginning five years ago when a small committee was formed to explore fund raisers to benefit Our Lady of Humility Church in Waukegan. The concept of creating a classic car show with several food booths and possibly some entertainment was born.

The problem was the enormous amount of space required to hold a car show. Overhead costs often place a terrific strain on fund raisers. The problem was solved when Jim Onan offered the use of his 11-acre property just north of Stearns School Road on Dilley's Road in Wadsworth.

Aside from the three-day extravaganza of food and entertainment, visitors have the opportunity to tour the Pyramid House itself, which features five bedrooms, nine bathrooms and seven fireplaces on five floors covering 17,000 square feet. The home is embellished with Egyptian paintings, furnishings and artifacts that hear-

Enjoy a cool day at the Lake County Museum

Bring the whole family and beat the August heat every Sunday at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Lake County Museum.

As part of an ongoing educational series at the Museum, Family Day Sundays are offered each Sunday in August from 1 to 4:30 p.m. with hands-on, family-oriented activities taking place throughout the afternoon inside the Museum's air-condition galleries.

If you have an eye for history, you'll enjoy testing your vision at "Match the Artifact," Aug. 4, as museum volunteers present obscure objects and ask you to match them to common products.

Remember the American Girl characters? Those who do and those who just discovered this historical treasure will enjoy the living history performance, Addy, featuring some of the county's talented young girls on Sunday, Aug. 11. Performances take place every half-hour.

On Sunday, Aug. 18, learn how settlers turned various Lake County plants into colorful dyes for wool at Dyes of Early Settlers. Museum volunteer Jill Martin will be on hand to show how dyes were created and then assist participants in dyeing their own swatch to take home.

The Museum is open from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday and 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Admission is free every Monday.

The Lake County Museum is located in Lakewood Forest

Preserve on Rte. 176, just west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda. Make Family Day Sundays a new family tradition.

YMCA receives Child Care Van

The Textile Division of Variety International has provided a $12,000 grant to the Lake County Family YMCA for the purchase of a 15 passenger van to provide transportation for teen mom's to return to school.

Variety Clubs International is a world-wide children's charity. The "Sunshine Coach" program was originated in 1962 by the late Leslie A. MacDonnell of Great Britain. Following a visit to Queen Mary's Hospital, where he saw children who were confined to the hospital due to disabilities, he decided to devise a method of bringing sunshine into their lives. From that small beginning, thousands of vans, "Sunshine Coaches," have been given away to children's organization in many countries around the world.

The Sunshine Coach program is sustained by contributions from individuals, charitable organizations, industry, etc. The Lake County YMCA van is donated through the Textile Division of Variety International by Mid America Wholesale, Stahl's, M & R Printing, and Foremost Athletics.

The Lake County YMCA van is being used to transport teen mom's who are enrolled in the Teen Parent Initiative Program through Goodwill Industries. The van transports mom's and children to the YMCA Infant/Toddler Center, then to school or job training program, then transporting them back to the child care center, then home.

"Our Teen Parent Program wouldn't be possible without the Variety Club Van," Kay Petersen, Director.

Teeny tiny terrorists in the grass

While folks like Rush Limbaugh rant about how Americans are losing jobs and tax dollars to illegal aliens, and the movies are filled with paranoia about creatures from outer space taking over the world, no one seems to be noticing a very real threat that already exists, one that we seem to be powerless to defend ourselves against. One that endangers our freedom to come and go as we please.

Even as you read this, they're out there. Waiting. Buzzing. Smacking their teeny tiny lips.

I'm talking about mosquitoes. Those disgusting, barbaric little vampire wanna-bes that suck your blood at every opportunity, without so much as a "thank you, ma'am." Every time I slap one of those pests on my arm, I have to wonder just why God created them. Although I know they supposedly serve a purpose as part of nature's food chain, I think He could have created something other than tiny blood addicts with wings and a built-in needle.

The scary thing about mosquitoes is that over the years, they've gotten smarter. When I was a child, mosquitoes were strictly creatures of the night. It was a fact of life that after sun-down, you had to cover your skin by wearing long-sleeved clothing to avoid mosquito bites.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Unfortunately, that has changed. Somewhere along the line, a young mosquito must have said to his mother, "Why can't I suck on humans in the daytime?" And his mother replied, "Because we only feed at night." And the young mosquito asked, "But why?" And mother replied, "Well, um... I don't know. Just because."

As most parents soon discover, that was not a good enough answer, and the next thing you know, the young mosquitoes decided to sneak out in the daytime. It wasn't long before the word spread: "Hey, you won't believe this. The humans don't wear bug spray in the daytime! And look over there on that lounge chair—is that a thong she's wearing or is she just happy to see us?"

In no time at all, young mosquitoes could be heard at all hours of the day, humming loud "buzz" tunes and sucking DEET-free blood until they were ready to pop. They grew cockier each day with their new found freedom and a blood-drunk sense of invincibility.

Today, the entire mosquito population has followed suit, and they have realized that world domination is a definite possibility—at least from June through August. If you have set foot in the grass of your backyard during daylight hours this summer, you will know that they are well on their way to achieving their goal.

And what are we doing about it? Not much. While the mosquitoes lay claim to Lake County, our governing board is pondering the mystery of the $100,000 snowflake. Meanwhile, we citizens are running around wearing Avon's Skin So Soft which is just about as effective as our government. Let's face it, if Avon's Skin So Soft is the best we can do against the mosquito invasion, we might as well surrender now.

In fact, I have already surrendered. I've raised the white flag (or Black Flag, to be more accurate.) As far as I'm concerned, my backyard is no longer mine. It has become the property of terrorists—the mosquitoes.

Now, if only they could learn to mow the grass.

I thought I was a social drinker...

A few beers, maybe a nightcap or two. I thought I could handle it. But when my job performance went down, my relationships were affected and I couldn't stop. I had to admit I needed help.

Music Notes

by Greg May

Where is everybody?

I have been going to all of the popular Lake County establishments this month to listen to the great local bands. Most of the places are empty, where is everybody? I know the weather has been good, however, many club owners are thinking of discontinuing live entertainment if attendance continues to be down. Remember disco? If you would like to continue to see your favorite bands, get out there and support them! When the cold weather comes, you may be dusting off that polyester suit and shining your platform shoes. SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL BANDS!!

New Jam Session

Starting Wednesday, July 31, Redeye Express will begin hosting a jam session/open mike at The Paradise Cove, in Johnsburg. This session will be every Wednesday. For more information, call (815) 363-7700.

Live Music

Saturday, August 3 - Kristof's - Round Lake Beach, 546-2512, Suspect; Yacht-Sea's - Fox Lake - 587-9562 - Riverside Drive.

Keaton more than two much

Michael Keaton is probably one of the most versatile actors around, evidenced by the gamut of screen characters he has run, from the weirdo, but great "Beetlejuice," to the stoic "Batman," to playing an alcoholic and a sanitarium inmate. He has had many funny moments on the big screen whether he's building Japanese cars or playing "Mr. Mom," so he's trying for the laughs again in "Multiplicity."

In "Multiplicity," or "Cloning 101," Keaton, like many of us, can't find enough time in the day for his job, his kids, his wife, and for having fun.

He comes across a genealogist who plays "alakazam" and there are two Keatons, one for work and one for play. Soon we have four Keatons, one rather effeminate one to be the nurturer and the fourth is sort of a mismatch copy clone.

Andie MacDowell sparkles while playing Andie MacDowell, ersatz Keaton's wife.

There's a few laughs here and there as pandemonium reigns with more Keatons than anyone could want. Keaton has his funny moments but methinks he scowls too much in this one because he's trying too hard.

This is another case of the

Michael Keaton, Michael Keaton, Michael Keaton, Michael Keaton

TV trailers showing the best of the picture, leaving not much more to appreciate or laugh at. We give it 2.5 stars out of five because it's only half as good as we had hoped, but this is state of the art digital technology at its best.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Get real

To the individual who thinks Hal Berger was elected for his social skills, get real. He was elected because the voting public was fed up with all the head bobbing and "what would you like us to do, Joan?" at all the District 46 board meetings. Hal Berger and all the caring and hard-working women you chose to mention in such a "negative" light have every right to voice their opinions and concerns. Since when is a dissenting view negative?

What's wrong?

Hey, what's wrong with this picture? District 46 raises for administrative people go up to $95,000 and they drive the kids out of the schools that want to play basketball for measly fees. Where are the priorities and who are the customers?

Sox are best

To the ignorant Cub fan that has the answer to the Sox fan, I'd like to know what he means by dangerous neighborhoods. It sounds racial to me. The real reason why fans aren't showing up is because Sox fans were the most hurt by the strike. The only reason it appears to be a Cubs town is because of WGN. I'd say only about 10,000 people are true Cub fans, the rest are tourists. The fact remains that the White Sox are a much better team than the Cubs ever will be and they'll make it to the World Series. Take that to the bank!

Something's foul

When Mike Ruxton, supervisor of Antioch Sewer & Water Dept. stated in a July 12 newspaper article that when sludge was applied to a field north of Loon Lake that no one complained, he's wrong. I called the township office in Antioch last year to find out what was causing the sewer odor. I was told the city was doing some drain clean-outs, but I shouldn't be smelling that. This year I called the Lake County Health Dept. They were extremely helpful. They came out to investigate and called the next day to see how we were. It was really disgusting. We had our windows closed for two days. I'd like to see if Mike Ruxton could live that way.

Concerned parent

I'm a parent of several Round Lake school children. I'm calling to voice my concern. Each week I see all these new developments being considered. The planners, developers, and trustees are more concerned about getting them developed. What happens when our schools are crowded? Are our taxpayers going to vote for another school to be built? This needs to be considered.

Realtor's opinion

Many are in agreement to the zero home values comment published in Lipservice a couple of weeks ago. As a realtor in Grayslake, I see many people moving out because they see no end to the taxes and they want to get as much for their house as they can while they can. People won't even move here—it's a well known fact.

Test boats

I know everybody wants your cars tested for emissions, but I've got an idea, why don't we start testing boat motors? I just got through watching this guy start his and he's spewing more stuff than a truck at a stop light. It's all going in the air and water. It's pitiful.

Get used to it

This is in response to "In the back seat." I agree that the White Sox field is in a bad location. Why don't we put the Sox in Cubs uniforms so the fans can see what it's like to have a winning team? The Cubs fans should get used to the fact they won't have a winning season and they won't ever get anywhere. Go White Sox!

Where's our lights?

I'm calling from Venetian Village and we've lived here for 26 years. The highway department indicated that traffic signals at Engel Drive and Route 83 were on their list and would be installed soon. That was 16 years ago and there's no signals yet. West Biltmore has been following this closely, trying to get signals installed at this intersection, which is extremely busy and getting steadily worse. I don't know where the highway department priorities are, but at the corner of Grand and Hutchins Rd. in Gurnee, a new location, traffic signals were installed quickly and in working order. Was that location such a high priority? Can the highway department explain the criteria they use to establish priorities? How much longer must we wait?

Do a good deed

Wauconda power boaters, this is your chance to unite and do a good act that will make all the people on Bangs Lake happier. Wauconda power boaters should get the village council to divide the lake again into half-wake, no-wake. That way both sides win. There's a place for power boating and swimming and fishing. So, get together all you power boaters and get the lake back into a happy environment for all the residents of Wauconda.

October. I don't know what he's talking about saying we have two lousy announcers because Harry Caray has been in the booth a little too long. They're always boring. He says the south side is a bad neighborhood, I bet he's never even been there. Why doesn't he go and see what it's like before talking about it?

Vote for Dole

I'd like to comment about Presidential candidate Bob Dole. It seems that people in the country are under the impression that he's a mean person or he's too old. I'm not saying he's a perfect person, but if you look at some of the things he's said and the emotion he shows around people, and how he's served and was injured in battle for our country, it shows that although he's caught up in politics, he's not as crooked as the rest of them. Furthermore, Bill Clinton See LIPSERVICE page B17

At it again

Well, guess again. District 46 is at it again. First thing they do is give the administration a raise. They get bigger raises than we do and I'm a state employee. Now they're praising Joan Hochschild in Lipservice.

Open libraries

If the library boards throughout this county have the taxpayers in mind, they would extend the hours and forget about new buildings and materials. We do need more hours. Open the libraries up. A lot of us work and it's too late to get to the library.

A fine example

Traffic is horrendous. Why don't we follow Milwaukee's fine example and have shuttle parking lots and buses to the major employers? We need to clear the roads and the air. It's getting disastrous out there.

Take a good look

This is in response to the Cub fan. Take a good look at the Cubs. They suck. They're probably the worst team in the National League. As for the Sox, at least they put out a competitive team every year. As for the Cubs announcer, if he's not drunk, he can't remember anybody's name—but he can probably say it backwards! The average age of those attending is about 10.

While the cat's away

On Saturday, July 13, neighbors of mine were out of town and their teenage son had a party that got way out of control. There was underage drinking and extremely loud music. At 12 a.m., I finally called the police to quiet them down. They came and as soon as they left, the music was back up. When I called again, the man said I would have to speak to an officer if I wanted something done. I called an hour later asking where the officer was, they said they had more important calls to take care of. He couldn't tell me when he would be there and if I wouldn't wait up, they couldn't do anything further. Is this what my tax dollars are paying for? There's got to be something more the police can do.

Call for thanks

I'm calling in regard to the person that returned my daughter's driver's license, house key and I.D. The person didn't leave a name or number so I could thank him, but if you read this message, please call me at 847-740-0959.

Hmmmm

We wonder who sunk the two jet skis at Long Beach Garden subdivision south of Long Lake? Hmmmm. We think we know, but hmmm.

Need a license

What's wrong with all the humanoids out here on their boats? What makes them think since they drive a car they can drive a boat? They should require licenses for boats, too. You have to get one to drive a motorcycle and a semi truck. You have to know how to drive a boat, not like the drunks flying around like idiots.

Another thing coming

I'm calling in regards to the moronic Cubs fan who thinks he's calling to bash our Sox without some sort of realization. He's got another thing coming. Our Sox are only a couple of games out of first in baseball's toughest division, whereas the Cubs are two games out of last place in baseball's worst division. The math is easy, but obviously Cubs fans don't have enough sense to see the difference between a .582 percent record and a .462 record. As far as the fans, the Sox still have one of baseball's best home records, and the Cubs are barely a .500 team in front of their loyal fans. Half of them go just to say they've been to Wrigley. At least our comedian announcers are sober!

Applauds for Hal

We applaud Hal Berger for his courage and stamina to stand against the poor decisions of our school board. Your hard work and strength of character are appreciated by more parents than you imagine. Your concern for the well-being of our schoolchildren is obvious, though it must be difficult to stand up to the childish sneers and taunts of the opposition, we feel for a change someone on the board represents the parents. Keep up the good work, Hal!

Thanks for sympathy

How can I say enough thanks to everyone who responded after my dog went to sleep July 4 and never woke up—it was so hard to take. I got so many phone calls and cards saying how sorry they were to hear about my pet. All I can say is thanks for taking the time to say something, it was so nice of everyone.

Thanks for find

Last weekend I would personally like to thank the person who found mail in Ingleside and turned it in to the post office. It was such a relief to get that mail back, thank you so much!

Incorporate

Attention, residents of Ingleside, get smart and get incorporated. You are sitting ducks for Round Lake, Lake Villa and Fox Lake. This way you can say no to the developers who are ravishing Ingleside and tearing down its beauty. No one seems to realize the trees they cut down are never replaced. It's your neck, say no and get incorporated.

Effect is lost

I can certainly appreciate the concern the animal activists have about the rodeo. My children and I were there and were taken aback with some of the events, however the activists that were there displaying signs saying things about animals' private parts did more of an injustice to children seeing that language than the rodeo did to animals.

Thanks, BEST

Congratulations to Vern Holmes and the BEST organization which provides valuable information to the taxpayer regarding the spending of our education tax dollars. With school funding debates and referenda popping up with every election cycle, those of us who pay the bills have a right to know where this money is going. Unfortunately, little of this funding goes to "help our kids." Most of it goes to pay for educational bureaucracy.

Try a contest

Instead of Lake County spending thousands of dollars for a new county logo, what they should have done is have a contest with high school and college students and give them a prize. Not only would they have saved money, we would have had a better seal.

Bad decision

Wauconda made a bad decision by limiting the use of Bangs Lake and making the cove a no-wake area. What they should adopt is what the Chain O' Lakes does is keep it a no-wake area 100-feet from each shoreline.

Cowardly act

What goes through someone's mind when they come up with the idea of killing over 200 innocent people with a bomb? What is the point? Why did these people have to die, what cause is so great that you have to make a point with killing innocent people? What's really disgusting is the sick people who think they're funny by telling airline personnel they've got a bomb. Don't they realize the amount of time and money that's wasted by searching the planes because of their sick joke? This world is in a sorry state, especially when something that's supposed to promote peace and good will like the Olympics, is disrupted by someone who wants to play "terrorist." Let's not let the cowardly acts of these so-called humans deter the rest of us from promoting peace and togetherness with our fellow man.

Pickup service

I was just curious, while driving down the road you see roadkill. How often does the state or county pick this stuff up? I really hate looking at it.

A tribute

This is in tribute to the Radtke family—98 years in business at the same location. Richard Radtke sold the business and building just before he turned 65. Enjoy your retirement, Richard, and good luck!

Bright idea

I'd like to know whose idea it was to grade up Route 83 in Grayslake leaving uneven pavement for your car to smash over every time you travel the road?

Why spend?

To the mayor and board and trustees of Round Lake Beach, why are you putting all this money and manpower into a boat ramp?

What about weeds?

I think instead of everyone worrying about the bay in Wauconda being a no-wake zone, they should get together and start going to the board meetings to determine what they will do about the weeds. Pretty soon no one will be able to boat or swim on the lake because it will be filled with weeds.

Poor winner

While watching the Olympics and the men's gymnastics individual all-around competition, I was disgusted by the insulting behavior of Vitaly Scherbo of Belarus.

He was honored by winning a bronze medal and when walking off the floor after the medal ceremony, pulled the medal off of his neck.

When asked by a reporter why he did this, he said, "I came here for another medal."

Well, Vitaly, so did every other athlete that was blessed with the privilege of being chosen to compete in the Olympics. His act of cowardice, disrespect and arrogance disgusted me. How dare he take off the bronze medal with no respect to the athletes at the Games that have worked so hard and were happy to just get there, much less medal in their chosen sport!

I give him respect for sticking by his wife when she was injured in a car accident, but did he really think that only a few months of hard training after letting himself get out of shape would guarantee him a gold medal?

I hope next time he has enough respect for his fellow athletes to be honored and humbled by having a medal of any color placed around his neck.

Balancing your landscape with mixed evergreens

In selecting plant material for residential sites a balanced mix between deciduous, coniferous evergreens, and broad leafed evergreens should be used. This is especially true for our growing zone where deciduous plants lose their foliage in the winter. Many times I've witnessed a landscape with too many deciduous plants and in the winter it lacks definition, weight and generally looks bad.

Also, a winter landscape with too many evergreen plants looks to dark and gloomy, especially when the weather conditions are similar. By using a proper balance among the various plant types, one can make a landscape a success any time of the year. Mass planting is preferred to scattered or separated in a landscape, and try not to use so many different types of plants. We are trying to create a "feel" or an eye for great design not an arboretum of plants. These three drawings will illustrate two mass plantings that are somewhat boring and one that shows more balance by using deciduous and evergreen plant material in a composition.

Pulling unsightly weeds can be a family activity

Having picnics, going to movies, playing Monopoly—these are all activities that are national family pastimes. But what about weeding together? Yes, weeding—pulling those bothersome, unsightly weeds out of the lawn and garden as a family activity.

Though a family may get dirtier weeding the garden than playing Monopoly, there are many benefits, too. First, it's great group exercise—kneeling, lifting, stretching, pulling—and by the end of the season, your family will be in better shape than any other in the neighborhood. Second, it helps the environment when you carefully remove weeds, then prevent them from returning by installing landscape fabric instead of spraying with potentially dangerous chemicals.

Weeds can destroy the serenity of any home lawn. Broadleaf weeds, such as dandelions, pigweed and ragweed, are common lawn invaders and difficult to eradicate. Fortunately, they're easy to pull out by hand and nearly any child can handle the task if an adult demonstrates how to do it correctly.

The best time to pull weeds is when the earth is loose or soft, a day or two after a light rain. Because a weed's roots can grow much longer below ground than its above-ground height, it's important to pull straight up to get as much of the root as possible. It's also important to grasp the weed at the crown, the thick-stemmed area just above the soil surface, to pull out the entire plant.

If a lawn has an abundance of broadleaf weeds, a weed-killing spray can be applied, but only as a last resort. Never apply a herbicide in the presence of children or pets and strictly follow label directions.

Weeds in a flower garden are burdensome but easier to take care of if two or more people work on it together. The first step is to pull all weeds out by hand. The second step is to cover the bed with a landscape fabric. Landscape fabrics permit air and water to travel throughout the fabric to the soil, but block sunlight from weed seeds to keep the area weed-free.

If the plants in the flower bed have yet to be planted, cover the bed with the fabric then cut holes or x's into the fabric with scissors everywhere you intend to put a plant or flower. Cut the holes or x's large enough to insert the plant directly through the fabric and into the soil.

If the flowers have already been planted, cut holes or x's into the fabric that are slightly larger than the plants themselves. Gently pull the fabric over the plants so that the fabric lays flat on the soil surface.

Once the fabric is in place, cover the fabric with gravel, pebbles or wood nuggets.

Weeds in a vegetable garden can attract bothersome insects to food-bearing plants. But it's especially important not to spray weed or insect killers in a vegetable garden as they could taint the vegetables. The simple solution is to gather the family to weed on a regular basis. With several people working at the same time, it won't take long to weed-out every row.

controls in Stevens Point. Three sidings along the route have been lengthened, at Silver Lake, Wis., Lake Villa and Mundelein, he said. A new siding was added near O'Hare.

"It's a freight dispatcher's dream," said Knapton. "He knows exactly when he can't use the track for a freight train."

The inaugural run of the North Central Service line is scheduled for Aug. 18, the day before regular service is to begin. Many VIPs are expected to participate—a courtesy invitation was even sent to the White House, but officials will be happy if state and local officials can arrange their schedules to come along for the ride.

A "major" ceremony will begin in Antioch at around 1 p.m., Knapton said, and the train is scheduled to break through a banner and pull up to the station platform at 1:45 p.m. Three-minute stops at each station site along the way will allow Metra Chairman Jeffrey R. Ladd to get off and make a presentation. A long blast after two minutes will signal the train is about to continue its journey. Individual villages may plan ceremonies to coincide with the arrival of the train. Officials and others with invitations will board at that time for the remainder of the trip.

"There will be a Metra person at each platform who will always know where the train is and how many minutes until it arrives," said Knapton.

The progress of stations along the way ranges from a complete facility at Lake Villa to some with nothing but the platform that was provided by Metra.

COMING TO A STATION NEAR YOU.

Introducing Metra's North Central Service.

Metra's new North Central Service is big news for residents in Lake and northern Cook counties. Initial train service will consist of four weekday inbound and outbound trains serving ten communities between Antioch and Chicago's Union Station plus a transfer stop at O'Hare International Airport, Remote Parking Lot E.

The North Central Service will be ideal for customers who travel to downtown Chicago during regular business hours. For customers with only morning business, an early afternoon train departure will also be available. ### Car care includes customer convenience

MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Staff Reporter

The advent of the hurry up-and-wait frame of mind has not affected the continued prosperity of the full-service car wash facility. At least not in Lake County and especially, not at The Libertyville Car Spa located at 540 Peterson Road.

Begun in the winter of 1990-91 as a "family business," The Car Spa has continued to maintain a large following of regular customers and expanded its clientele base as well.

"Our family got together," explained Jeff Beck, who manages the business. "We were looking for a family business and decided the area needed a good, full-service car wash."

In the planning and development stages for more than three years prior to its actual opening, the car wash was completed only after Beck's parents, Charlotte and Stanley Beck, traveled throughout the country seeing what type of car washes were flourishing.

One area which the Becks found lacking at many full-service car wash facilities was a "nice, comfortable waiting area." As a result, The Car Spa has a completely carpeted hotel-like "lobby" atmosphere where customers may wait inside while their vehicle is cleaned.

Within the "lounge" waiting area are vending machines, complimentary coffee, soft, padded chairs and a small play area for children. Off to the side of the cashier's counter is a small gift shop with car-related items along with some gift cards.

"With the advent of the gas station car washes of recent years, I know it's affected some car washes, but it doesn't seem to have bothered us," Beck noted. "There are still plenty of days where we are doing as many vehicles as we can."

Beck said his full-time staff of 15 employees along with additional seasonal part-time help is often kept busy open to close.

"We do as good of a job as we can," Beck said. "If we have a complaint, we make sure it's taken care of."

A basic soft-cloth wash is $7.95, but Beck admits few of his customers get just "a bubble bath" cleaning even though The Spa includes a floor vacuum, undercarriage wash and the inside windows. The next step is the $10.95 Super Spa which includes spray wax, interior air freshener, poly sealant and a few other added perks. A La Costa is the top of the line when it comes to a regular wash which goes for $17.50. Add Armour-All for $2.50. There is an additional $1 to $3 charge for larger custom vans.

Complete detailing services are available and in such demand that Beck is considering adding additional bays just for that.

The most popular detailing package is a Spa I which runs $97.50 and includes a complete interior and exterior cleaning, hand waxing and cloth shampooing. Just an interior or exterior cleaning is available for $59.50. The biggest package includes engine cleaning and runs $139.50. Larger vehicles may require an additional charge.

"Most of the regular customers are working couples with families, people who don't have the time to take two and three hours to wash the car," explained Beck. "We can have them in and out in an average of about 20 minutes."

There are packages available ranging from five, 10 or 15 washes, or a yearly pass for one vehicle which goes for $285.

"With a yearly pass, you can come in as many times as you want," explained Beck. "Usually, when people first get them, we'll see them once a day for a few

Developer creates new division: Century Homes

Formation of a new land development and home building division to be known as Century Homes has been announced by Irwin Berkley, CEO of Wood Dale, Ill.-based Century Development Group.

Berkley also announced that veteran real estate sales executive Al Goodman, 54, has joined the firm as president of Century Homes.

"Our focus will be to locate and develop prime property, particularly environmentally enhanced sites, throughout the Chicago area for custom home development. The combination of Al Goodman's experience and leadership with our own will allow us to make an immediate impact," said Berkley.

Century Development's portfolio of luxury housing developments include, among others, Olde Grove Farm, nearing completion in Vernon Hills, adjacent to Long Grove; Hunters Ridge, a 72-acre community in South Barrington; and Meadow Lakes, a 39-acre enclave of million-dollar homes on two-acre sites, also in South Barrington.

Goodman, who lives in Vernon Hills, brings to his new post a 25-year career in residential development and sales, including executive sales positions as regional sales manager for Kaufman & Broad, sales manager for Hoffman Homes and senior vice president with United Development Co., with whom he was associated for 15 years.

Century has also purchased land in Lake Barrington and Naperville and is looking at additional properties in Vernon Hills as well as other "close-in" communities. For additional information on upcoming Century projects builders and consumers are invited to phone Al Goodman direct at (708) 787-1705.

BUSINESS TURNOVER

Avoiding high cost of turnover

DON TAYLOR

Correspondent

The problem of employee turnover is a serious and costly situation in many industries. Some companies experience turnover rates of 300 percent and more. A company that normally employs 10 people would have 30 employees come and go in one year to experience a 300 percent turnover rate.

The problem consumes huge amounts of management time better spent on other activities. In addition, the costs of recruiting, hiring and training may be the largest hidden cost in many companies. Some business owners report that the cost of training entry level workers now exceeds $1,200.

According to many human resource experts there are several causes of employee turnover. The first is the practice of hiring employees whose skills or personality traits are not compatible with the critical factors and function of the job. Hiring an introverted, detail-oriented engineer for an outside sales position is an example of such a mismatch.

Another cause is the way other members of the company treat newer employees. Unfriendly co-workers, supervisors who lack real leadership skills and managers with unrealistic expectations contribute to high employee turnover rates.

An additional turnover element is inadequate or unclear communication. All members of the business team must be able to understand what the others are saying. High-turnover companies always have deficiencies in the communication process.

Another reason for "revolving-door personnel" is inadequate training. If an employee doesn't understand what to do and how to do it, the frustration level will increase and the employee will often leave at the earliest opportunity.

Adverse working conditions can also cause turnover. An unsafe environment, difficult hours, unsanitary working conditions or uncomfortable work spaces are all potential causes of dissatisfied employees.

Another common cause is a pay scale below the prevailing wage rate. If a company is the lowest paying company in an area, it becomes the employer of last resort.

Turning the tide

The best ways to lower turnover rates actually begins before hiring anyone. Carefully analyze every job to determine the critical factors related to it. For example, a retail sales clerk needs strong communication skills, knowledge of selling and the ability to initiate contact with strangers. On the other hand, key factors for success in a machinist's job might include the ability to work in one place and the persistence to perform steadily at repetitive work.

After identifying key success factors, create a job description that clearly defines them. The more clearly detailed the job requirements, the more likely candidates match.

Several companies sell test instruments used to evaluate potential employees' personality traits and behavioral characteristics. Contact the nearest Human Resources Association to learn which tests might be most appropriate. These profiling tools are useful in evaluating current employees, too.

The next step in reducing turnover is using good interviewing techniques. Many good articles and several books are available with advice on interviewing and selecting good potential employees. Check with the reference desk at the local library.

Once the right candidate is found, training should begin as soon as possible. Most small business owners who are reducing their turnover rates say their training process never stops.

Another important factor is to reward those employees who perform their jobs well and motivate those who need a little encouragement. Remember, people require different motivation. A pat on the back may help one, a kick in the pants another. (Figuratively speaking of course.)

A final thought on turnover: To improve anything, be able to measure it. Once turnover can be measured, begin to develop a plan to improve it.

Car Care

weeks. Once per week is more the routine, but if they want to come every day, they can."

The biggest competition for places like Car Spa is not the corner mini-mart washes, but people washing their own vehicles at home.

"Our peak season is winter, when people aren't able to wash their cars outside and they can't use self-serve washes because of possible icing," Beck explained.

The Car Spa has seen everything from Rolls-Royces, BMWs, Ferraris, Mercedes to a Volkswagen Beetle or Golf. Occasionally, a collector's 1950s Impala or Bel Air have gone through. The Car Spa also has several corporate accounts and services some limousines.

Normal hours for The Car Spa are 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Sunday, weather permitting. The Spa is closed on major holidays. For information, phone 680-0680.

Sometimes an old-fashioned song

Brings us a thought of you;

Sometimes a flower as we pass along,

Or a sky that is azure blue;

Or a silver lining in the clouds,

When the sun is peeping through.

All of these things, make us
think of you.

The family of John Trkovsky wish to thank the K.K. Hamsher

kindness they extended during our loss.

PUBLIC NOTICE

COLIFORM BACTERIA IN WATER EXCEEDS LIMIT.

This notice is for informational purposes. It is not a notice of immediate hazard to water consumers. Should a hazard exist, immediate notification will be made.

The Village of Fox Lake Public Water Supply wishes to advise its customers that the maximum allowable concentration (maximum amount allowed in drinking water) for coliform bacteria has been exceeded in samples taken during the 6th sampling period. The maximum allowable concentration for coliform as designated by the Illinois Pollution Control Board is an average of 1 coliform per 100 milliliters of water for all samples collected from the distribution system during the sampling period. Sample results indicated an average of 35 coliform per 100 milliliter in the samples analyzed.

Coliform bacteria are found in the intestinal tract of all warm-blooded animals. The presence of coliform in properly treated water indicates that there is a pathway by which pathogenic (disease producing) organisms could enter the system.

STATEMENT OF CORRECTIVE ACTION

The Village of Fox Lake has taken several measures for the prevention of improper sampling in the future.

One measure has been to change the sampling sites. The original sites were inadequate for several reasons: First, they are all outside, they aren't the proper type of sampling faucets and because they are outside they are prone to contamination and freezing.

Another measure is the Village is now regularly sampling at various points throughout the system and flushing various low-flow areas to maintain proper Cl2 residuals.

The final measure is more extensive training of operators on the proper procedure for taking samples.

Ask Don Garlits

Plymouth Duster holds its own with years of service

Q. You receive many letters telling of cars that are not up to par. How about one that is a bit of a brag, just to lighten your day? In June 1975 I bought a new Plymouth Duster. Since then I have traveled over 168,475 miles with it. During that time I had the brakes fully looked over—once. I have replaced the radiator, the water pump and power steering equipment. I've had a check-up every six months. Between check-ups, I have had to buy oil only three times, always during long journeys on hot days in heavy traffic. My mechanic has often said he "couldn't sell me a quart". He also said the car should be in a museum somewhere. Don't you have one yourself? Today is the last day I will use old Dusty. The body, due to New England weather, has now deteriorated to the point that the very honest body shop manager will not take my money. My only complaint—why don't they make cars like old Dusty anymore? I am now 79, so I have decided to get around using the means God gave—I'll walk. Mary L.

A. It is always good to hear from readers who are having a great time with their cars. Why don't they make cars like Mary's Duster any longer? Good question. Is there a reasonable answer? I'm not sure. But I don't totally blame the manufacturers. So much of what has happened to the auto industry is a result of government intrusion. It's meant to fight air pollution and mandate fuel conservation, but it seems to me the government's time and effort would have been better spent in researching alternative fuels and engine designs. If we can put men on the moon and repair satellites in zero gravity, surely we can do better with our earthbound transportation.

Q. I have a 1986 Chevrolet Suburban with four-speed automatic and cruise control. I have two problems, both related to the cruise control.

Sometimes when I hit a fairly large bump in the road, the control will drop off. Then I just touch the resume and it will reset. What could cause it to drop off? Other times, usually on a grade (up or down), the control seems to stop working. When this happens, I can restore it by pressing down on the accelerator until the car reaches the pre-set speed. I had the cruise checked by the dealer and he couldn't find the problem.

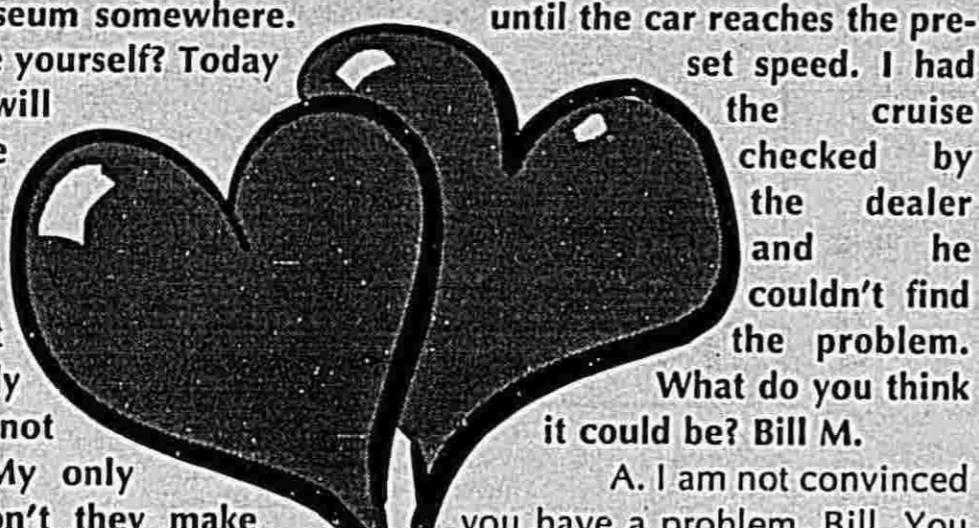

What do you think it could be? Bill M.

A. I am not convinced you have a problem, Bill. You may find that the "large bump cutoff" is a safety feature. On slight inclines, the unit will probably function ideally. However, on steep grades, it may be that the running gear ratio, overdrive perhaps, is not sufficient at the preset speed. Where one brand of cruise control may adjust and compensate, another may just cut off altogether. See if there isn't an adjustment that can be made in the unit by checking with the dealer, other manufacturers or independents. Remember the purpose of the cruise control: easier driving on long trips, at steady speeds, under safe and predictable conditions. It is not designed to do the driving for you.

CHARISMATIC

Lofty brick columns flank the high, gabled entryway of the Charismatic, giving a stately and spacious feel to a contemporary home that is actually on the small side. The brick facade and cultured stone is sill on the front, window positively exude solidity and permanence. While the arched garage doors and window, as well as the round window, add grace.

Designed primarily with empty, or nearly empty, nesters in mind, the home is compact and easy to care for. Once inside there are no difficult flights of steps to negotiate, and, if desired, the entry steps could be replaced by a gently sloping walkway.

Inside, the sense of spaciousness carries over dramatically. Windows, which arch over and around the front door, flood the one-and-a-half story, vaulted entry area with warm, natural light. More windows form most of one wall of the wide, open great room, which combines the kitchen, dining, and living areas. Had the designer walled each room separately, following the traditional norm, this home wouldn't be nearly so inviting.

A covered deck, accessed from the great room by sliding glass doors, invites outdoor living when the weather is mild. The master suite also opens onto the deck.

An angled extension on the eating bar creates more seating while giving a unique shape to the basically U-shaped kitchen. And the placement of the sink and dishwasher in the eating bar insures that those doing clean-up tasks need not be cut off from activities or discussions going on elsewhere in the room. Ample storage is available in cupboards and pantry.

For increased privacy, the master suite is located on the opposite side of the family living area from the other two bedrooms. Each sleeping area has its own bedroom.

A utility room is tucked between the garage and bedrooms. Those who like to sew will quickly realize that the light by the window makes it a perfect place for a sewing machine.

For a study kit of the CHARISMATIC (335-041), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

Cut decorating costs by selling your junk

If you've ever discarded a briar pipe, a fishing plug, or an old tin can, you may have thrown away something worth as much as drapes or a new carpet.

According to the experts, fishing plugs from the '30's can bring over $11, a briar pipe from 1950 has sold for $875, and the record price for an old item has brought $12,000.

The list of collectibles includes: flower frogs, tasters, ration tokens, beer cans, business cards, toys, flashlights, buffalo horns, radios, passports, stewardess uniforms, McDonald's ID badges, neon signs, magazines, sheet music, TV sets, home movies, hunting licenses, sports programs.

Studebaker parts, carnival glass, canes, eyeglasses, hotel registers, insurance policies, Hawaiian shirts, celluloid bracelets, newspapers, dog show medals, hat pins.

Vietnam War souvenirs, musical instruments, paper dolls, peace buttons, corkscrews, expired credit cards, and those goofy bobbing head dolls of the '60s.

Millions of ordinary items can put cash in your pocket because some collector wants them.

Checking value is important if you are over 50 or own things originally belonging to your parents, say experts.

It's easy to underestimate what items will sell for: wristwatches from the '30s are worth 10 times what they were worth in 1985. Knowing current prices is essential to get the top dollar.

Pick up the phone and talk to an expert to find out the honest value of what you have. He may buy it. It's faster and easier than a yard sale, and much more profitable.

When your kids are gone and it's time to convert their bedroom, don't throw out toys because they aren't very old. Their dolls, games and comic books might pay for new wallpaper and carpet.

With plastic Barbie dolls and furniture from mid-'60s selling for high prices, it's smart money to check out everything you own.

Several project for summer fun

Let inspiration come straight from nature to create a few quick, affordable decorating projects using spray and latex paints in versatile colors.

Nestle up

Let the inspiration come from nature by turning a simple basket into a simply adorable bird's nest with a coat of leafy green paint. Nestle a grouping of wooden eggs, painted a variety of colors, on Spanish moss within the nest.

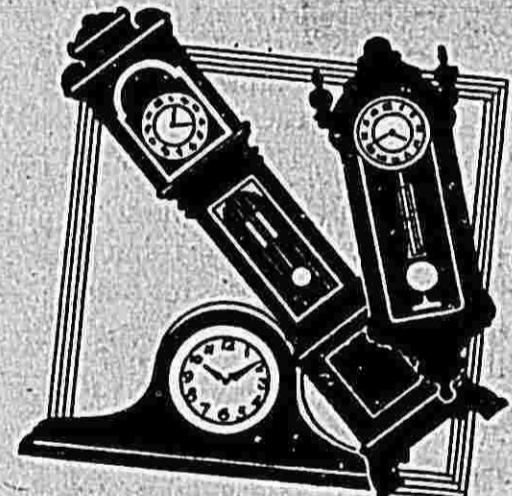

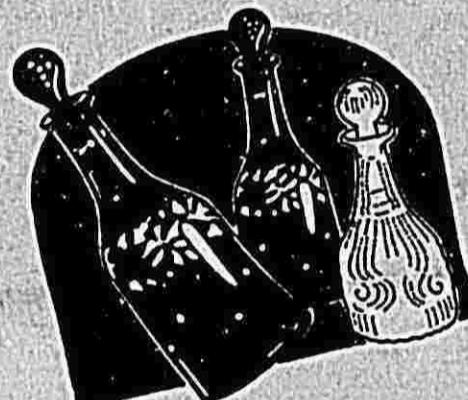

Buckets of fun

buckets can be stenciled. Using a vine motif with a leaf green color. Fresh, dried or silk flowers finish the look.

Showcase creations

A baker's rack, accented in your favorite color, is the ideal way to display your new creations.

PET OF THE WEEK

"RUSTY" is a handsome male short coated shepherd/retriever mix. At seven years "young", Rusty is in the prime of his life and he has many wonderful years ahead. Rusty has a beautiful reddish brown coat, and is a sturdily built larger mid-size. But the best thing about Rusty is his personality. Rusty is energetic and very playful. He loves treats and has the attentiveness and responsiveness that will keep him young at heart for many years to come. Rusty is a people-loving dog. He is exceptionally affectionate and possesses a winning personality. This is a dog that truly loves life, and has so much to give. Please give a great dog the chance to spend the best years of his life, in a loving home and with a caring family. He will thank you with devotion, loyalty and an endlessly wagging tail!

Choosing a family pet can be a great responsibility

Beginning at the birth of your pet, preferably speaking of the canine family, your puppy, can bring joy or despair. It's your choice.

Where should you obtain your family pet? A reputable breeder or the animal shelter? Well, both actually. If you have the time, money, patience with a brand new puppy and you have a particular breed in mind, then by all means choose a breeder. If you are looking for a not so young dog and breed preference is iffy, then choose a shelter.

1. Choose a breeder from a breeders directory. Forget about Mr. and Mrs. Joe that have purebred puppies for sale twice a year and have been doing so for several years at their home.

2. Get a list of past buyers from the breeder dating back 10 years and call them. Find out how their dog is doing, has it had any medical problems and is it still alive.

3. Make sure that the parents of the puppies and the grandparents have passed obedience trials and if they hold titles in Schutzhund, agility, canine good citizen, or field. Remember your looking for a well developed and intelligent pet that has good temperament as well as looks.

4. Find out how the breeders handle the dogs. Are they outside or inside dogs. Are they caged or able to socialize with others.

5. Last but not least. What guarantee comes with the dog. If your pet develops hip or elbow dysplasia what can or will the breeder do for you. (There should have been a certificate from the OFA stating that the bone structure of the parents were fine) or perhaps there is no guarantee. How about cataracts or luxation (dislocated lens), deafness, cancer.

This may seem like a lot of information to swallow at first, but this is an addition to your family, and you want to love this dog and care of it as much as you love and care for the other members of your family. This can be a great responsibility or a great burden. The choice is yours.—by KIMBERLEIGH GORHAM, Leash License
